

Central Says Finances Won't Permit Removal Of Broadway Crossing

Railroad's Grade Crossing Engineer States Company Can't Afford Additional Staff To Prepare Plans by June 1.

MAYOR WANTS ACTION

Central Business Men's Move to Keep Broadway From Depression Declared Out of Order.

Through its grade crossing engineer, J. G. Brennan, the New York Central Railroad informed the Public Service Commission at Albany, Thursday, that "work on the Broadway crossing in Kingston is impossible until its financial condition improves, or federal funds are available."

Besides Mr. Brennan, others at the meeting interested in the elimination of the crossing were Mayor Conrad J. Heiselein of Kingston; Alderman at Large John Schwenk, Henry Darrow, city engineer; James Norton, superintendent of streets; Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill and four members of the Central Business Men's Association: William O'Reilly, president; Selig Oppenheimer, A. H. Cook and George Dittmar.

John M. Cashin of the law firm of Cashin and Ewig acted as spokesman for the business men.

The railroad had been directed to show cause at the meeting why complete plans for the crossing elimination should not be submitted by June 1. Mr. Brennan, the grade crossing engineer, explained that plans, specifications and estimates could not, under present conditions, be ready before September 1, 1935.

The proposed plans call for depressing Broadway in the vicinity of the crossing at an estimated expenditure of $505,000. Of this amount the railroad would be required to pay $252,000.

It was emphasized by the commission that no other plans but those calling for the depressing of Broadway would be considered at the meeting.

The Mayor's Statement

Mayor Heiselein said to the commission:

"While I realize that the most satisfactory method of elimination, to the people of Kingston, would be the depressing of the railroad, I am in favor of the order requiring the railroad company to prepare and submit a plan and pledge the cooperation of the city government in the preparation of such a plan. With all parties working in cooperation, I am hopeful a plan can be produced that would be acceptable to all parties concerned."

The mayor urged that all possible speed be resorted to in getting the crossing project started, having in mind the list of 5,300 unemployed men in Ulster county who need work.

Business men protest.

Attorney John M. Cashin, in behalf of the Central Business Men's Association, entered a protest against the plans for elimination of the crossing by depressing Broadway. In doing so he affirmed the stand the central organization has consistently taken since the crossing elimination proceedings started.

The Central Business Men's Association feels that by depressing Broadway, according to the present plans of the railroad, this course would practically destroy business of all persons within the radius of the development, namely from the central post office almost to Henry street.

The first order of the Public Service Commission to the New York Central to eliminate the crossing was issued on December 27, 1928. At this time plans for depressing Broadway were suggested.

Opposed to this, the city and county of Ulster, through their legal representatives, applied for a rehearing to go on record as against running the street under the tracks. In addition to the opposition taken by the city and county, the Central Business Men's Association through an attorney endorsed the position of the two departments of government.

The application for the rehearing was denied on March 14, 1929.

As a result of the proceedings yesterday's meeting was for the railroad to show cause why it had not submitted complete plans for elimination of the crossing in compliance with the order of 1928.

This being the case, the opposition offered by Attorney Cashin for the Central Business Men was declared out of order by J. A. O'Connor, public service commission chief engineer, who contended that such action should have been taken at previous hearings relative to drawing plans.

"All arguments as to suitability of present plans have been thrashed out at other hearings," he said. "We will not hear suggestions for changing these at this late date."

The Railroad's Losses

Mr. Brennan, the railroad's engineer, when asked if plans could not be ready by June 1 if additional men were employed, said it might be possible to have them ready by October 1, 1935.

He went further to say, however, that his company was not financially able to employ the extra men.

Byrns is Certain House Will Reject Amendment

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Speaker Byrns today expressed a "personal belief" the house would reject the senate amendment requiring that prevailing wages be paid on projects under the $4,880,000,000 work-relief bill.

Parents of Dead Girls Traveling To England To Get Last Messages

London, Feb. 22 (AP).—Two farewell notes, their contents undivulged, held the death secret of Jane and Elizabeth DuBois today.

Coert DuBois, United States consul general at Naples, father of the attractive young women who plunged to their deaths yesterday from an airplane, was enroute here with his grief-stricken wife to receive his daughters' messages.

The two notes, found on a seat of the airliner after the sisters had leaped from it at an altitude of 3,000 feet over Uppminster, Essex, were in the custody of the American consul here. He declined to divulge the contents to anyone except the parents.

Meanwhile, a witness of the sisters' horrifying death leap disclosed further details of the strange dual suicide.

The source of the information was Frank Solomon, who was standing in a cabbage patch at Uppminster, when the two human plummeted hurtled from the sky and struck the ground near him.

"I was standing drinking my tea," he said, "when something flashed past my eye I heard a violent thump, I looked around and saw what appeared to be two girls lying asleep, facing upward."

"They lay side by side, hands clasped, and looked just as if they were taking a rest. The force of their fall had driven them eight inches into the ground but there was no blood."

The two notes addressed to Mr. and Mrs. DuBois, which Jane and Elizabeth left behind, were reported to have explained that they wished to die because two young Royal Air Force aviators in whom they were interested perished in an air disaster at Messina, Sicily, last week.

Despite rumors concerning the purported contents of the two farewell notes, both the American consulate and Scotland Yard officials denied that the envelopes had been opened. They would remain sealed, they said, until the coroner's inquest.

A new angle to the death leap came to light with the disclosure of the woman manager of an apartment house where the sisters lived last spring that the sister she knew as Jane DuBois had told her she was married.

Tugwell To Continue At Present Position

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP).—Rexford Guy Tugwell let it be known today that he will continue as undersecretary of agriculture despite the hard knocks his school of thought has encountered in the AAA recently.

Wary of disagreements with more conservative officials in the agriculture adjustment administration, Tugwell visited the White House late yesterday. Earlier he had been thinking of quitting his present post to return to a professorship at Columbia University or to enter the relief and social security branches of the government. But after talking with the President he told newsmen he would stay where he was.

Speculation immediately arose as to whether Tugwell might be merely postponing his departure from agriculture until another post is ready. Relief and social security legislation which might provide a few assignments for him is taking a slow course through Congress.

Same Old Address

Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 22 (AP).—Max West, famous blonde film actress, today denied reported plans to desert the screen, returning to the New York stage. "I'm not going on the stage there, here or anywhere else," Miss West said. "My home address will be Hollywood for quite some time."

A number of communications approving the proposition to build a junior high school in Kingston were read at the meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night, but the board adjourned without taking any action in the matter. President Beeres directing that the communications be filed for future reference and consideration.

Communications included one from the Common Council asking the board to make plans for building a junior high school at their earliest convenience; from the Kiwanis Club, which recommended that material and labor for the proposed school be procured locally so far as possible; from the Kingston High School Alumni Association, which suggested the use of land at the rear of the high school for building purposes; from the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church; from the P. T. A. of the High School and Schools Nos. 6, 7 and 8. There was also a letter from Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Newkirk endorsing the proposition.

Mayor C. J. Heiselein, Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill, City Treasurer C. Ray Everett and Deputy City Treasurer Joseph Craig appeared before the board with reference to a proposition which has been discussed which would involve the changing of the method of school tax collection and provide in the city charter revision plan for having all taxes collected at once and in four instalments. Mr. Everett said that such a plan would save the city taxpayers from $1,100 to $1,400 a year.

Mayor Heiselein discussed at some length the proposed action, which had behind it the thought of making things easier for the taxpayers, but said that investigation had disclosed the fact that the change was not possible under the provisions of the education law. The Mayor said that the Corporation Counsel had been at the State Education Department, at Albany, to discuss the matter and get an opinion as to whether or not it would be permissible for the Board of Education to change the fiscal year of the board and put the plan into operation. They were told by the State Education authorities that as they saw it the change would not be legal.

A study of the education law had confirmed this opinion and made it pretty evident that the only way in which the desired change could be made would be through a legislative act changing the education law.

President Beeres suggested the possibility of collecting the city tax in three instalments and making the school tax a fourth, this would bring the four instalments fairly even.

A communication from the Gulf Refining Co., which is delivering oil for the use of the schools, called attention to the fact that on January 14 there had been an advance of half a cent on a gallon in the price of oil. Superintendent Van Ingen said that the school so far this year had used approximately 25,000 gallons of oil and that the 50,000 gallon mark would be reached before the season was over.

Bills totaling $5,932.97 and a salary list of $26,033.44 were ordered paid.

The building committee reported that the fire escape at School No. 4 was completed, but that the doors were not yet finished.

Superintendent Van Ingen presented his report, which covered the matter of registration. In reply to a question he said that the average attendance would be about 94 per cent of the registration.

Communications from the P. T. A. of School No. 8, thanking the board for recent improvements made at the school, and from various P. T. A.'s and the Junior League, thanking the board for the use of the auditorium for their play, the Wizard of Oz, were received.

Superintendent's Report

To the Board of Education: The following registration of pupils for the second term will be of interest to you.

The total registration in the grammar schools is 2,212, distributed as follows:

School No. 1	38
School No. 2	243
School No. 3	261
School No. 4	429
School No. 5	521
School No. 6	568
School No. 7	528
School No. 8	450

The total high school registration this term is 1,536. These are classed as follows:

Resident	463	251	1,222
Non-resident	217	259	476
	964	510	1,474

Of these 1,536 are students entering high school for the first time.

The entire number registered this school year (since September), including those who dropped out during the first term and those who finished their high school course in January and did not return for the second term, is 2,494.

For comparative purposes I am submitting the number registered each of the schools at the beginning of the year.

Roosevelt's Hopes Rest On Congress to Check Relief Wage Amendment

Senate Approval of McCarran Wage Level Issue Took Place Thursday with Surprise Vote, 44 to 43.

LONG TURNED TRICK

Quick Switch of "Pairs" by Kingfish Given as Reason for Administration's Defeat.

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Striving to recoup after a defeat in the Senate, Roosevelt leaders looked hopefully to the House today to block ultimate adoption of the McCarran prevailing wage amendment to the $4,880,000,000 relief bill.

Not even a warning by Senator Glass, of Virginia, that a veto impended, nor a letter from President Roosevelt asserting the bill would be administered to protect existing wage levels could swing the tide against the amendment as the Senate approved it late yesterday by 41 to 43.

The climax of the wages fight found Senator Long (D-La.) dealing a blow to the Roosevelt plans he criticized. After striding around the chamber all day, conversing with senators and seeking to marshal strength in favor of the McCarran amendment, he played a leading hand in a quick switch of "pairs."

Some senators attributed the administration defeat to his efforts.

His trump card was the authority which he said he obtained to pair the vote of Senator Hattie Caraway of Arkansas.

A pair occurs when an absentee senator offsets his vote against the vote of another senator on the opposing side of the question. They agree that their votes shall not be counted in the total. Senator Dickinson (R-Ia.), in favor of the amendment, originally was paired with Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), opposed. The Iowa then transferred his pair to Senator Frazier (R-N.D.).

Frazier later appeared to vote "aye" and so Dickinson's pair was shifted to the absent Mrs. Caraway. Dickinson voted for the McCarran amendment and it went over the top by a single ballot.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader who is Mrs. Caraway's colleague from Arkansas, questioned the transfer, but Long triumphantly announced that the required authority had been granted.

As the Senate turned to half a dozen other controversial amendments, House leaders expressed the belief today that the wage provision could be eliminated, leaving the administration free to pay "security wages" of about $50 a month on public works. The McCarran proposal is to pay the rates prevailing in private industry.

In the letter sent to Senator Glass (D-Va.), the President said:

"I object to and deny any assertion that the payment of wages to workers now on relief rolls at less than the prevailing rate of wages may, under some theory, result in lowering of wages paid by private employers."

"I say this because it is an obvious fact—first, that the federal government and every state government will act to prevent reductions, and secondly, because public opinion throughout the country will not sustain reductions."

Hearing On Lotteries Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—Bills proposing amendments to present statutes to permit lotteries for unemployment relief will be given a public hearing by a legislative committee next Tuesday. Introduced by Senator Julius S. Berg, Bronx Democrat, the measures would authorize the state and municipalities to formulate plans to raise revenues for the relief of the unemployed through authorization of public welfare officials.

They amend the present penal law to change the definition of a lottery so that it will not apply to a state or any of its political subdivisions in adopting a plan.

Betty Gow In England

Southampton, Eng., Feb. 22 (AP).—Betty Gow, former Lindbergh nurse, arrived today on the S. S. Berengaria. A large crowd milled about the dock attempting to get a glimpse of the woman who had been one of the star witnesses in the Hauptmann trial, but she refused to see anyone except her mother and a few friends who went on board. She entered an automobile and drove away to an undisclosed destination.

Lehman is Prepared For Finish Fight in Epoch Dispute Over Utilities

Governor Says He Will Tolerate No Tampering and Expects No Modifying Bill To Come Up for Vote.

ASSEMBLY A BUFFER

Lower House Expected to Champion Governor's Key Law, but Lehman Can Veto.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Democratic Senate Leader John J. Dunnigan squared off for a "fight to the finish" today in what promised to become a politically historical dispute over the key law of the chief executive's year-old utility reform legislation.

Warning both Senator Dunnigan and the utility investigating commission that he will not tolerate any tampering with the provision authorizing emergency rate reductions by gas and electric companies, the governor was confident a bill designed to modify the law will not come up for a vote.

The New York Senator was as equally determined that the measure which he introduced this week after the committee said the law was unconstitutional would be reported favorably for action on the floor of the Senate early next week.

Senator Dunnigan, in taking sharp issue with the governor on the constitutionality of the law, sided with Counsel John E. Mack of the utility investigating committee. The Senator is chairman of the body.

The committee recommended that the public service commission be authorized to order temporary reductions on the "fair value" of property to permit a "reasonable return" instead of the present law requiring reductions to that utilities can not lose more than five per cent.

Governor Lehman disputed the inference that the committee had been solely responsible for effecting rate reductions to date, asserting that they were the result of the enactment of his 12-point utility program last year—notably the emergency rate reduction law and the municipal operation provision.

Even though Senator Dunnigan succeeds in jamming the bill through the upper house, it undoubtedly would meet stiff opposition in the Assembly, where Speaker Irwin Steingart has thrown his support to the governor.

The governor has the final say, signature being required before it becomes law.

The governor's attitude aroused speculation as to whether he will approve the $250,000 appropriation to defray the committee's expense for the next year. The group already has been continued by a legislative resolution.

De Leo Electrocutated

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—Vincent De Leo got his wish—that nothing should interfere with his electrocution. The 29-year-old New York-born went silently to the electric chair last night and was pronounced dead four minutes later. He had been condemned for killing Keeper Daniel Nicksen in an attempt to escape from Clinton prison last year. He was sentenced to Sing Sing for robbery in 1925, later transferred to Clinton, and returned here to die. De Leo chatted for a few minutes with the Rev. John P. McCaffrey, Catholic chaplain, but declined to have the priest attend him as he went to the chair. A few days ago he had refused to see his brother and sister, who came from New York to cheer him up.

Morris Kohn Funeral

New York, Feb. 22 (AP).—Men who rank at the top of the motion picture industry gathered today for the funeral of Morris Kohn, 72-year-old pioneer film man. Kohn quit the business in Chicago to enter the nickelodeon field with Adolph Zukor and Marcus Loew. Zukor, who had been his partner in films, is now president of Paramount Public Corporation; Loew, now dead, founded Loew's, Inc., and Kohn, prior to his retirement about 12 years ago, had been president of Realart Picture Corporation and of Select Picture Corporation and of Select Picture Corporation.

Kohn died unexpectedly at his country home in Nanuet, N. Y. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery, Westchester.

Profile of Armaments

London, Feb. 22 (AP).—The Russian delegate to the world disarmament conference, M. Venturi, asserted today that private arms factories were the only enterprises realizing a profit during the economic depression. The Soviet representative made the observation as he proposed a drastic change in the American draft arms convention to place the same restrictions upon private as upon state manufacture of armaments.

Should May Review

Tokyo, Feb. 22 (AP).—Matsutaro Shoriki, prominent Tokyo publisher, was given a good chance for recovery today from the wounds inflicted upon him by an assassin who accused him of unpatriotic behavior, including sponsorship of the Ruyi tour to Japan last fall. The assassin accused the American business press of having exhausted 74 per cent of their potential borrowing capacity.

Wiley Post Forced Down Today on Strato Flight

Los Angeles, Feb. 22 (AP).—Wiley Post, intrepid flier who started a sub-stratosphere dash from Los Angeles to New York early today, was forced down without material damage to his plane at Muroc Dry Lake, 125 miles north-east of here, he advised the Lockheed Corporation.

"Forced down at Muroc Lake; no damage to plane except bent propeller blade," Post advised the Lockheed corporation here. "You can land alongside me with ease."

Officials said they were sending two ships with mechanics to enable the plane to be returned here.

Long on Senate Floor Calls Farley a Crook, Promises a Sensation

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Huey Long, warming up for a new onslaught on Postmaster General Farley, warns the capital that it is going to be "rocked."

A "common, ordinary, unscrupulous crook with no defense whatever to be made for him" was the description Senator Long applied to Farley on the Senate floor yesterday as he continued his efforts to obtain an investigation of Farley's administration.

"What I have to show in the next few days will rock this capital," he said, adding that the postmaster general is "on the way out."

Bank Law Violations

Long said his charges would involve bank violations. Tennessee in which he contended Farley had interfered, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) interrupted to say he believed he knew what the Louisiana had in mind but that he was "wholly misinformed."

As Long spoke, Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, told newsmen that the FERA had cancelled a contract with a New York company for $1,000 sacks of cement and given 20,000 of the order to the General Builders Supply Company, of which Long says, Farley formerly was president.

Hopkins said the original contract with the City Builders Company, calling for $15,584 had been cancelled because NRA certified the company was not complying with its code. He said that the price finally paid five companies for the cement was $22,564.

Robinson Challenges

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, challenged Long's reading of a speech he said Farley planned to deliver tonight. Robinson declared it was unfair to obtain a copy of a speech given out to the press in advance and that "a question of fair dealing" was involved.

Replying that the speech had been "improperly printed" by Farley through the Democratic national committee, Long said he had been a contributor to the party and the postmaster general therefore was proposing "to use my money to answer me." Reading from the speech he said Farley contended that attacks on him really were attacks on President Roosevelt.

Meanwhile the Senate awaited receipt of data promised by Secretary Ickes in response to its request for any information he had regarding Farley. Ickes has denied conducting any investigation of the postmaster general.

Gross Debt Larger By 28 Per Cent Over 1929

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—The heavy relief load New York state has been forced to shoulder is the direct cause of a 28 per cent increase in the gross debt since 1929, a report of the state conference of mayors and other municipal officials shows.

The gross debt of all the cities was shown as $2,124,000,000 or 14 per cent of the total assessed value of real estate, up from the $1,652,435,000 of 1929.

The cities had not been compelled to finance a part of their welfare costs by borrowing, there would have been a substantial decrease instead of an increase, the report said.

The report said the cities had borrowed more than $150,000,000 in the past six years. In 1929 the cities owed only $234,000 for emergency relief as compared to a total of $112,472,435 last year.

Last year all cities borrowed a total of $44,129,127 for home, work and veteran relief and $9,920,447 for capital improvements, exclusive of work relief.

The report sounded a warning against additional borrowing by the cities, saying if they issued bonds up to their constitutional limit as of January 1, 1925, "they could spend for capital improvements and home and veteran relief not more than $53,300,000."

Loss of Industries and Slackening of Work In Others Resulted in Huge Drop in the Last Five Years.

REAL ESTATE TAX

Real Estate Board Members Favor Two Per Cent Limitation Tax on Real Estate.

That Kingston has sustained an annual loss of $1,896,000 in payrolls in the past five years was the startling fact brought out at the monthly meeting of the Kingston Real Estate Board held Thursday evening at the Advance Restaurant on Wall street. This loss was due to the closing down of industrial concerns and slackening up in work in other lines of industry.

These figures had been carefully prepared by members of the board and were brought up for a general discussion of the situation. Among the industries that had either closed down or had slackened up in production were cited the closing of the former Ulster & Delaware Railroad shops, the Palen woodworking plant, the Columbia shirt factory and several other industries, and the lack of production by the local boatyards and brickyards.

In the general discussion following the reading of the figures that had been compiled showing the seriousness of the industrial situation in the city it was brought out that the members of the board believed that something should be done to stimulate industry here, and that the board was willing to form a nucleus around which a strong organization could be built to function toward replacing industrial plants that had closed.

The board believed that this loss of over a million dollars in payrolls in Kingston presented an exceedingly serious situation that confronted not only the industrial and business life of the city, but the owners of residential properties as well.

Favor Tax Limitation

The board went on record as favoring the limitation of a 2 per cent tax on real estate as outlined in a bill now before the state legislature. This bill, if adopted, would limit the tax on real estate to 2 per cent of the value of the property. In other words if a property was valued at $3,000, the tax limit on that property would be $60 and no more.

If the tax budgets of the city, county and state required the raising of additional money to carry on the cost of government it would mean that other means would have to be found to raise money by taxes.

The meeting Thursday night was attended by real estate brokers from districts bounding on the Kingston district.

The officers of the Kingston Real Estate Board, the membership of which is made up of the leading brokers in the city, are: President, George W. Moore; vice president, Sam N. Mann; treasurer, Arthur J. Burns, and secretary, N. B. Gross. The members of the executive committee are Fred S. Hyatt, Schuler Schultz and James E. Snead.

Sextuplets Reported

New Orleans, Feb. 22 (AP).—Now it's sextuplets. Dr. Edward Schumann, of the medical faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, said he had been informed of the birth of six children to a negro woman on the African gold coast. Speaking at a medical meeting last night, Dr. Schumann exhibited a picture of the asserted sextuplets which, he said, was sent him by a medical missionary. He said he was informed by what he considered a reliable authority that the infants were eight days old and still living when the picture was taken.

Commissioner Of Motor Vehicles Files Report For Year 1934

An increase of more than $2,000,000 in net revenues accruing to the state and a gain in excess of 50,000 over the number of motor vehicles registered during 1933, is revealed in the annual report of Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Charles A. Harnett for the calendar year 1934, made public today.

The commissioner declared these increases "indisputable evidence of a material improvement in economic conditions and held the automotive industry to be a true barometer of the genuine progress that has been made in the battle for business recovery."

The report also reveals an increase in the number of automobile accidents of approximately two per cent and a corresponding increase in the fatalities resulting, or a total of 2,949 deaths as against 2,893 during 1933. An impassioned plea is made for the cooperation of the public in the prevention of motor vehicle accidents and the details of a campaign of education relentlessly carried on by and under the auspices of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles is outlined.

Commissioner Harnett openly declares his sponsorship and support of four outstanding amendments or additions to the vehicle and traffic law. These comprise compulsory liability and property damage insurance for all motor vehicles registered in the state of New York; mandatory installation of an automatic signaling device that clearly indicates the direction in which the driver intends to move; automatic government of the maximum speed at which each class of vehicle is permitted to travel; and an extension of the period following which the commissioner may approve an application for a new license filed by a person who has been convicted of driving while intoxicated. He believes this period should be one year instead of six months as provided by the present statute.

In his advocacy of compulsory insurance, Commissioner Harnett dissects and answers the arguments advanced by those who criticize the Massachusetts law of similar nature, particularly pointing out the fallacy of any belief that compulsory insurance was designed to, or will decrease automobile accidents. "However," he declares, "it will compensate those who suffer personal injury and property damage through no fault of their own. And certainly the widows and orphaned children of innocent people who are the victims of automobile accidents are entitled to a fair and just measure of protection under the auspices of the state that licenses these vehicles to travel our highways."

COMMERCIAL FLYING IS BEST IN WORLD

United States Makes Foreign Nations Jealous.

Washington.—America's stupendous strides in civilian aviation in the past two years have made other powers jealous.

England, France, Italy, Japan and Russia privately are expressing concern over the marvelous development not of military but of commercial aerial transport in this country.

Today they see the United States supreme in the air with planes and motors superior in many ways to any produced in Europe or Asia.

These sleek made-in-America planes, with three-mile-a-minute speeds, while designed for passengers and mail, are easily available for military use.

With their long cruising range, ability to fly at speeds of over 200 miles an hour at extremely high altitudes, they are a mighty aid to national defense.

Jimmy Doolittle, in a new type transport plane, recently crossed the continent in 11 hours and 58 minutes, making 2,750 miles nonstop at over 230 miles per hour.

A few days ago a regular plane on the Miami to Newark, N. J., run made the trip in 8 hours and 15 minutes.

Twenty-hour coast-to-coast service now is commonplace on three different routes. Fifteen-hour service, air officials say, will be achieved in less than three more years.

These astounding speed records, maintained by huge streamlined cruisers of the skies, are not duplicated anywhere else in the world. America also is far ahead of other countries in development of the radio beam and other aids to blind and night flying.

One transport company alone has 65 huge metal two-motor transport planes of three-mile-a-minute speeds. More important is the fact that American plane factories now have facilities for turning out these huge planes in quantities.

Wales Becomes Composer; Pens Air for Bagpipes

London.—The prince of Wales, son of the king and queen of England, Great Britain's trade ambassador, aviator, linguist, admiral, general, air chief marshal, Europe's most eligible bachelor, et cetera, now has broken into the music game.

The prince has written a little piece entitled "Majorca." It is an elementary exercise for budding piano and violin virtuosos either, but a full-blooded march for bagpipes which will be played at important ceremonies by no less famous bands than those of the Scots guards.

The complete score, written in the prince's own hand, includes, it is said, even numerous grace notes, while at the top is tastefully inscribed the title, "March." The prince composed the tune primarily for his own use. He has been taking bagpipe lessons from Pipe Maj. Henry Forsyth, piper to King George, and is now able to play several pieces.

Motor Plant to Furnish Music While Girls Work

Pittsburgh.—Hereafter Westinghouse motors will be assembled to the strains of "Sweetie Pie" and other popular songs, so the girl workers may be content at their tasks.

"Some types of work are necessarily monotonous," one official declared. "If we can make such types less so by the installation of phonographs we'll do it, and we'll purchase records that the girls themselves select."

Phonographs already have been installed in the motor assembly and one of the electric parts assembly departments. Perhaps a big radio-receiving system to take in the entire plant will follow. The department where radio tubes, receivers and accessories are manufactured now has a complete system of broadcast reception, that has not been made general.

Man Proves Innocence but It Cost Him $15

Boston.—William G. Strippe, chair man of the Whately selectmen, wanted to prove his innocence at any price charged with a parking violation. Strippe came to Boston at a cost of $15. He brought a picture of his automobile in Dedfield the day police say it was in Boston. Found not guilty, he thought somebody should pay the expenses, but they were left to him.

Mammoth Bones
Kenosha, Wis.—Ribs and head bones, apparently of a huge prehistoric animal, were unearthed ten feet below the surface of a school playground here by FERA workers. The jawbone was 24 inches long. Tomahawk stones and arrowheads were found on a high level.

Recovers Wedding Ring Lost 33 Years

Stockholm.—Mrs. Liden, wife of a farmer near Falkenberg, lost her wedding ring 33 years ago, a few days after her marriage. The other day a laborer, spreading on a field some distance away a quantity of beam supplied by Liden from his land, saw something glittering and picked up the ring. As it was engraved with the name Liden and the date of the wedding, he had no difficulty in restoring it to its owner.

BABY SLASHED IN 'HEX CURE'

MELLON WORTH 97 MILLIONS IN '31

DURANTE'S ANTICS CAUSE SUIT

Mrs. Evelyn Leather (below) isn't amused by Jimmy Durante of the generous nose. She filed suit for $5,000 against Durante, claiming he came down from the stage in a Pittsburgh theater and embarrassed her greatly by his antics. Durante (above) crouched behind a stair rail to show photographers how he'd look behind the bars. (Associated Press Photos)

Labor and Labor Policy
Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Editor:

When you talk about a "sound labor policy", what do you mean, a policy that is sound from labor's point of view, or that of those who treat labor as a commodity? And when you talk about friends of labor, do you realize that Caesar had a friend by the name of Brutus? What makes you believe that public employment is preferred by labor if it is as remunerative as private employment? A statement without proof is worthless. Yet it does seem a little absurd that labor which can not be employed privately should, without recompense beyond the bare necessities of life, and that only after its savings have been turned back into the active economic circle, stand ready to give further service to an economic system which denies it security and independence. Therefore I believe that it is sound labor policy that labor shall receive just remuneration while privately employed, and while it is held in abeyance, which means unemployed, it must through the help of the state be given the opportunity to earn a decent living. If industry needs a subsidy whereby to keep its workers alive, it can ill afford to squawk when labor rebels against carrying the major portion of this subsidy.

Labor worries very little about going socialist if that is the only way by which it can secure economic security. If that is un-American, may I remind you that it is very American to rebel against intolerable conditions which are externally imposed? Since unemployment is forcibly imposed upon labor, it is not indisposed to use some of that individualism, be it rugged or otherwise, which characterizes an American, to secure such living standards which our civilization is capable of giving. The time is passing when labor is willing to place its fate into the hands of benevolent plutocrats. Labor does not desire special privileges, but it must have the assurance of a continued existence at a level compatible with the productive capacity of the times. No other policy is acceptable to labor, because it is unsound and an incubator of all the "isms" of which you are no more afraid than I am. Therefore I believe that if you use your influence to lifting labor out of the proletariat, a status which labor thoroughly hates, into the middle class which own property and remains secure in its possessions, you may be assured that you are doing a great service to your country.

Sincerely yours,
F. G. SEHELM,

Hartnett Recommends Compulsory Insurance For All Motor Vehicles

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Hartnett in his annual report today recommended a compulsory liability and property damage insurance for all motor vehicles registered in New York state.

While pointing out the fallacy of any relief that compulsory insurance is designed to, or will, decrease automobile accidents, the commissioner said:

"It will compensate those who suffer personal injury and property damage through no fault of their own. And certainly the widows and orphaned children of innocent people who are the victims of automobile accidents are entitled to a fair and just measure of protection under the auspices of the state that licenses these vehicles to travel our highways."

A bill designed to require such insurance is now before the legislature and will be given a hearing next Wednesday.

Commissioner Hartnett also recommended:

Mandatory installation of an automatic signaling device that clearly indicates the direction in which the driver intends to move.

Automatic government of the maximum speed at which each class of vehicle is permitted to travel.

Extension of the period following which the commissioner may approve an application of a new license filed by a person who has been convicted of driving while intoxicated.

New York state's share of motor vehicle receipts through registration increased by more than $2,000,000 in 1935, Mr. Hartnett said, with a gain in excess of 50,000 car registrations.

Dr. Andrews Weds Mrs. Christmas Today

New York, Feb. 22 (AP).—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, noted scientist, and Mrs. Wilhelmina Anderson Christmas, were married yesterday in the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church, associates of Dr. Andrews disclosed today.

Their wedding was set for today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sheedy, and their marriage came as a surprise to all but their intimate friends.

Friends of Dr. Andrews said his desire for a "quiet" ceremony was largely responsible for the surprise wedding.

Dr. Andrews did not appear at the American Museum of Natural History today, and his associates at the institution did not know where the couple was. Dr. Andrews is director of the museum.

The bride is the widow of Frank H. B. Christmas, former New York stock broker.

Railroad Policeman Arrests Dozen Men

Sergeant Schoonmaker of the railroad police on Thursday night arrested a dozen men and arraigned them before Justice H. E. McKenzie on charges of trespassing on railroad property. The men, who were picked up in the stations at Port Jervis and Esopus, were given five days each in the Ulster county jail. Most of them gave their occupation as laborer, but there was a painter, a sailor and a tool grinder among the lot.

The men arrested were: James Brady, 41, 12 Perry street, New York city; Peter McKeon, 42, Port Jervis; Thomas Nevins, 44, 220 E. 96th street, New York city; James Hylan, 58, 225 Smith street, Brooklyn; John Martin, 38, 62 S. 2d street, Brooklyn; David White, 46, 509 West street, New York city; Fred Stark, 57, Syracuse; Joseph Copley, 42, 49 Ackerman street, Albany; Edward Carroll, 53, no address; Edward Moran, 65, Syracuse; Elias Miller, 50, no address; Fred McKay, 60, Newburgh.

Works Division Of ERB Closed Today

Under a ruling handed down by the State TERA the works division of the local emergency relief bureau is closed down today with the exception of the men employed on the construction of the new sewer in East Chester street and the replacing of the present 4-inch water main with a 6-inch main.

Under the state ruling no relief men could be employed today as it was a holiday except on an emergency job. The East Chester street job is considered an emergency one as the work relief desire to complete the laying of the sewer and water main before the state awards the contract for rebuilding the street as part of the proposed bypass for Route 9-W.

The clerical force of the ERB worked today, and the commissary was kept open to supply needy families with food.

Boy Scout Rally Here Saturday

Everything is in readiness for the annual Ulster County Boy Scout Rally which is to take place in the new State Armory on Manor avenue on Saturday afternoon and evening.

The following troops of Ulster county are enrolled for the rally: Troops 3, 5, 6, 7, 9, 11, 12 of Kingston; Troop 14 of New Paltz; Troop 19 of High Falls; Troop 22 of Accord; Troops 23, 25, 27, 28, 29 of Ellenville; Troop 25 of Port Jervis; Troop 30 of Highland; Troop 34 of Woodstock; Troops 36 and 39 of Saugerties.

All day today the many troops have been busy at the armory preparing their exhibits and laying out the floor for the events so as to have everything in readiness by Saturday noon for the general public.

Methodist Minister Faces Serious Charges

Denver, Feb. 22 (AP).—Whether the Rev. Fred T. Krueger, retired minister, went to a nudist meeting as a "thrill seeker" or as a student of sociological problems, was disputed today.

The question may reach the Colorado conference of the Methodist Church and the Rev. Mr. Krueger's future in the church hinges on the answer.

With 25 other men and women, the 66-year old minister was arrested in a raid on a South Denver nudist colony. He faces police charges of contributing to delinquency of minors and to operation of a disorderly house.

Bishop Ralph S. Cushman explained that the clergyman could be ousted from the conference, if his case is officially considered or he could be disciplined.

A great deal depends, the bishop said, on whether the Rev. Krueger was at the nudist meeting to study a sociological problem, as he has explained.

Union of Nordic Royalty Favored by Swedes and Danes

Princess Turns Profile To Camera

Princess Ingrid of Sweden, with her patrician profile and winning beauty, is seen at the tennis matches with her grandfather, King Gustaf of Sweden, dressed for play. It is reported her royal grandfather has had a hand in preparing ground for her rumored marriage to Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark.

By ELMER W. PETERSON
Stockholm (P)—New rumors—and new denials—that Princess Ingrid of Sweden is to be the bride of Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark have only served to convince Scandinavia as a whole that there is fire under all the smoke.

No royal engagement, real or anticipated, has been more talked of hereabouts in recent years, despite the fact that denials have been most positive and complete. Both Swedes and Danes, it has become obvious, would welcome the match, not only for its political significance, in the closer relationship of Nordic royalty, but as it would affect two very popular young persons.

Frederik Like Wales

Denmark, with a bachelor crown prince who soon will be 36 years old, is getting as nervous about his avoidance of matrimony as were the British about the Prince of Wales. Sweden, with a highly eligible and attractive 23-year-old princess, is convinced that the time for wedding bells has arrived.

The latest flurry was caused by a flat announcement in the usually responsible Copenhagen newspaper, Berlingske Tidende, that the engagement was to be announced on the arrival home of Princess Ingrid from a lengthy tour of the Far East countries. In the face of vigorous denials the Berlingske Tidende was forced to back down on its announcement, but not without leaving the impression that the editors had been more premature than inexact.

King Gustaf, Matchmaker

The marriage rumors were at a high point last summer when Princess Ingrid paid several visits to the Danish royal family at Copenhagen. At Cannes last summer Prince Frederik dined publicly with King Gustaf of Sweden and Princess Ingrid, and later rode a part of the way to Paris in King Gustaf's private car.

The Danish Crown Prince is held to be a great favorite of King Gustaf of Sweden, and Princess Ingrid is likewise much in the company of her royal grandfather.

Since Princess Martha of Sweden is already married to Crown Prince Olaf of Norway, it is pointed out, the marriage of Ingrid and Frederik would be a most important step in the further unification of Scandinavian royal family.

In past years the name of Princess Ingrid was frequently linked with those of both the Prince of Wales and the then Prince George of England. The latter was definitely regarded as a suitor after the two British brothers visited Stockholm in 1932.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just Souvenirs

Pittsburgh—Mrs. William Turner, wife of the postmaster, has a two $1 money orders which she probably won't cash.

Her husband noticed that the postoffice had reached the end of a million orders of a single series. So he took out No. 1,000,000 himself and mailed it home. Then for good measure he took out No. 1 of the new series.

Rodent Rodeo

Salt Lake City—A rat killing brigade of 49 men soon will start to rid the city of rats, estimated at 10,000,000.

John M. Knight, commissioner of public safety, says the rats have been invited guests of the city since their ancestors arrived on freight trains loaded with beer in the early days.

Business as Usual

New York—Today may be a holiday for some people, but it's only

Friday for about 500 police department clerks.

A holiday used to mean a day off for them, but Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine issued an order that hereafter the department's clerical workers must work on holidays. The commissioner and his chief aides work on all holidays and he felt the clerks should do the same.

There will be a criminal lineup at police headquarters today, the first to be held on a legal holiday in the department's history.

Going Out of Business

Philadelphia—Sale of a "fifty gallon can complete"—complete with instructions for making liquor—was charged today by federal agents against Isidore Caplan.

"I've been helping people for years," the agents quoted Caplan as assuring them when they brought the "can" and asked him how to get liquor out of it.

He was held under $500 bail on a charge of making and selling stills without a government permit.

Cites Benefits Of Better Milk

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 22.—Six times as many babies up to two years of age died in 1915 as in 1934, and if the 1915 death rate had continued, around 62,000 more babies would have died this past year than actually did, Dr. Paul B. Brooks, deputy state health commissioner, said in a talk before a farm and home week audience at Cornell.

Improvement in the milk supply has been more responsible for the change than any one thing, he stated.

"Probably the outstanding feature in our milk sanitation program at present is the application of the sanitary code provision that after January 1 no raw milk other than certified and special Grade A raw milk could be sold in cities and villages with a population of 15,000 or more.

"When this regulation was first adopted some said its purpose was to drive out the 'little fellow' and force pasteurization. From such incomplete information as we have, both the little fellow and the big fellow have preferred pasteurization to the high standards for special A raw. Surprisingly few, apparently, have gone out of business.

"The actual purpose of the regulation was to give those who could and wanted to produce and sell safe raw milk the opportunity to do it and to have the milk recognized, and to 'force' the pasteurization of the rest."

Dr. Brooks' statement said that the state department of health is always willing to receive suggestions that concern milk regulations, and that dairymen of the state can get debatable questions settled if a way exists to settle them.

Services Announced For Temple Emanuel

Services will be held at Temple Emanuel tonight at 7:39 o'clock. Rabbi Bloom will preach on the theme "Washington and the Jews."

The Bible and confirmation classes will meet at the rabbi's residence on Saturday morning, February 22, at 10:15 and 11:15, respectively.

The Young Folk's Group will hold its meeting on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the social hall of the temple.

On Monday afternoon at 2:20, the Parent-Teacher Association of the Religious School will hold its monthly meeting in the social hall. Rabbi Bloom will speak on "Home Celebration of Tu B'Shvat."

The Adult Class will be held at the home of one of its members on Wednesday, February 27, from 8 to 10 p. m.

Darrow Says Present NRA Won't Function

Chicago, Feb. 22 (AP)—Clarence Darrow says he believes that the NRA in its present form will never work, because, he contends, it permits monopolies and price fixing.

"There is no doubt the NRA is illegal the way it stands today," asserted the venerable Chicago criminal lawyer.

Commenting on President's Roosevelt's plea to Congress this week to extend the NRA two more years, Darrow recalled the report the National Recovery Board, of which he was chairman, made to the President in 1934, upon executive order.

After hearing some 300 complaints the board made recommendations on codes covering about 15 industries.

The board advised changes in the codes, Darrow said, because each permitted monopolies for big business and price fixing. The board's report was attacked by Donald Richberg, then general counsel for and now head of NRA.

"NRA, the way it operates, takes care of the big fellows by price fixing," asserted Darrow. "The little fellows have to take care of themselves by cutting prices."

The controversial section 7-A of NRA will not work without a change, contended Darrow, "because labor can't have its cake and eat it too."

After all, when employer and workman sign an agreement they should stick to it. There shouldn't be outside interference.

SEWING CIRCLE TO SERVE CHICKEN PIE SUPPER

The Sewing Circle of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street will serve its annual chicken pie supper in the parish hall Wednesday, February 27. The supper will be served promptly at 5:30 and will continue until all have been served. The committee will also be prepared to serve those who prefer to call for suppers to take home; such patrons are kindly requested to bring the necessary dishes, and to come before 5:30. A fancy work booth will also be featured, and a large variety of useful articles will be offered at tempting prices. Refreshments will be served all evening. Tickets for the supper may be obtained from members of the Sewing Circle, or may be purchased at the door. The supper menu is as follows: A generous portion of chicken pie, mashed potatoes, lima beans, cabbage salad, cranberry sauce, celery, finger rolls, apple pie and coffee.

Discharged From Bankruptcy
New York, Feb. 21 (Special)—Thomas F. Linden, brakeman, of 105 Foxhall avenue, Kingston, was discharged from bankruptcy here in United States District Court. The order was signed by the court when no opposition was voiced on the part of creditors.

Electrical Measurements Named for Electricians

Units of electrical measurement, and why they are so named, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, include seven terms.

The ampere is named for A. M. Ampere, a French electrician; the ohm for the German, G. S. Ohm; the volt for Alessandro Volta; while the others take their names from Charles A. de Coulomb, Michael Faraday, James P. Joule and James Watt.

The ohm is a unit of resistance; it represents the resistance offered to an unvarying current by a column of mercury at the temperature of ice, 14.5421 grams in mass, of a cross-sectional area of 1.00003 square millimeters and of the length of 106.3 centimeters.

The ampere is a unit of current. An ampere decomposes .000324 of a gram of water in one second, or deposits silver at the rate of .001118 of a gram a second when passed through a solution of nitrate of silver in water.

The volt is a unit of electromotive force. One volt equals one ampere of current passing through a substance having one ohm of resistance.

The coulomb is the unit of quantity; the amount of electricity transferred by a current of one ampere in one second.

The farad is a unit of capacity; the capacity of a condenser charged to a potential of one volt by one coulomb.

The joule is a unit of work. It is equivalent to the energy expended in one second by one ampere current in one ohm resistance.

The watt is the unit of power. It is equivalent to work done at the rate of one joule per second.

Rhinoceroses Inhabited North America Long Ago

The rhinoceroses of North America are well represented among the exhibits at Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago.

Although one thinks ordinarily of rhinoceroses only as associated with Africa, India and a few other localities on the other side of the world, there was a time, a good many million years ago, when various species of these great pachyderms were at home in North America and, in fact, were abundant over a great part of this continent. It is pointed out by Elmer S. Riggs, associate curator of paleontology at the museum.

It is of the fossil specimens of these prehistoric animals that the Graham hall collection consists. Included are a practically complete mounted skeleton, and several skulls and leg bones of American rhinoceroses of various kinds. Some of the specimens were excavated from ancient geological formations in the "bad lands" of South Dakota; others are from old river channels and from the drifted sands of Nebraska and Kansas. The animals apparently became extinct due to the frigid and aridity which crept down upon the great plains region preceding the Ice Age.

Ancient Dura or Syria Ruins Date to 280 B. C.

The ancient ruins of Dura in what is now Syria was the outlying post of Greco-Roman civilization and lasted from about 280 B. C. to about 256 A. D. It was first a Macedonian colony of Alexander's general, Nicanor, and received its Greek culture on a basis of Semitic population attracted from the desert to the security of its walls. It was the connecting link in the caravan trade that wound up the Euphrates valley from Parthia and the east to the Mediterranean. After 150 years as a Macedonian city, Dura was taken over by the Parthians; the powerful rivals of the Romans; was later seized by the Romans and incorporated in the Roman empire by Marcus Aurelius. It finally fell under the advance of the New Persians of the Sassanians, and then was abandoned to the sands of the desert. It had already endured nearly 600 years, and when Julian the Apostate passed the ruins, beneath them lay records of five civilizations.

Dura was a melting pot of religions. Babylonian, Syrian, Persian, Arabian, Greek, Roman and Christian religions co-existed here in the city and each source of excavation brings to light many valuable additions to the knowledge of these ancient religions and civilization.—New York Herald Tribune.

POLITICS at Random

THE senate's rise to a place of greater influence in the conduct of the government is one of the impressive features of the current Washington picture.

It was not long ago that the senatorial estate was at very low ebb. Senators were the butt of an endless jocular round of wisecracks, and only a very small fraction of the public seemed willing to take the traditionally august branch of the national legislature as all seriously. Of course a great deal of wisecracking persists, but there are various elements of the present senate situation which no one attempts to laugh away.

IT IS in that chamber that the administration's relief, security, banking and utility bills have encountered unexpectedly stubborn resistance. It is there that agitation for inflation centers and demands for investigations into the new deal flourish. It is there that politics is being merrily.

More interesting still, it is to certain figures in the senate that both right-wing and left-wing dissenters from Mr. Roosevelt are looking contentedly for leadership.

Senate-White House Rivalry

THIS turn of affairs appears to clearer perspective when it is viewed as a part of a long-continuing rivalry between the senate and the White House.

A senate dominated by such figures as Aldrich and Foraker often was a thorn in the side of the first President Roosevelt. Under Taft, a senate coterie led by Dooliver started the rebellion which ended in Taft's defeat for reelection.

Wilson dominated the senate during most of his two terms, although he did have occasional troubles with "a little group of willful men" in the senate membership. Senate influence itself, in turn, became definitely dominant over the White House soon after the League of Nations treaty was submitted for a ratification it never attained.

Slumped in Prestige

RIDING high, the senate sent one of its own number, Mr. Harding, to sit in the presidential chair. While he lived, and for a time afterward, senatorial influence was strong. By a strange about-face, it was the senate which uncovered Teapot Dome and almost wrecked the administration it had created.

By SYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Under Coolidge and Hoover, especially, often defied the old guard of his party in the senate and got away with it. The senate fell off in influence, prestige and power.

It showed little sign of recovering from that slump during the first congress to assemble under Franklin Roosevelt; but it got a big taste of power again when it turned down the world court.

INDIVIDUAL senators, such as Glass of Virginia on the one hand and Long of Louisiana on the other, have become increasingly assertive on issues about which they disagree with the chief executive.

It is noticeable, too, that several democrats just reelected, and facing no further election contest until 1940, are showing an independence hitherto lacking.

About the most absorbing political question discussed around Washington just now is wrapped up in this situation. No one knows how far the senate's new assertion of influence will go, but everyone recognizes that great potentialities are involved in the answer.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, JR.

Split.

Governor Lehman and Senator John J. Dunnigan, Democratic leaders, differ decidedly on the public utilities commission, of which the latter is chairman of the joint legislative committee for its investigation. Mr. Dunnigan questions the constitutionality of the five per cent law, which was passed by the legislature last winter authorizing the public service commission to order a temporary rate decrease so as to insure a return of a 5 per cent minimum. He leaves room for the implication that utilities will be held to this rate and check higher earnings.

In commenting yesterday, the governor, who had not talked with Mr. Dunnigan since his startling announcement on Wednesday, announced that it was not his wish to enter any controversy with the senator, but made it clear that he would not let anyone jeopardize the gains thus made thus far for consumers of public utilities.

He told the committee a thing or two when he stated, "I shall be very glad indeed to have the Dunnigan commission and its counsel pursue with the greatest vigor and activity its investigation of the relations between public utility companies and public officials, which, as you know, was the primary purpose for which the commission was constituted."

Milk for Babies.

George R. Fearon, Senate Republican leader, has introduced a bill asking an allocation of $3,000,000 for free distribution of milk for undernourished children and nursing mothers. He asserted that in the past this has done incalculable good and has probably saved many lives. This appropriation, if made, will come from relief money, and is double last year's appropriation which was for six months. Mr. Fearon is trying to induce the finance committee to report favorably on this bill and has sought further aid from the governor.

Lots of Lotteries.

Two bills, if enacted, will authorize the state and its municipalities to conduct lotteries for relief purposes, according to Senator Julius S. Berg, New York Democrat, the introducer. Confident that the public will welcome these measures, Senator Berg has pointed out that for years New Yorkers have sent millions of dollars abroad to sweepstakes subscriptions, and for the life of him he cannot understand why this money should not be kept here. He has offered a fifty-fifty proposition: the funds will be so divided so that half will go for relief and the balance to the winner.

Hark!

Major public hearings include one on unemployment insurance on March 6, at 2 p. m., and one of Senator Berg's lottery bills on February 26, at 2 p. m.

Iowa's Oxford Poet Back On Job

Sausage and Verse Fruits of Paul Engle's Trip to Berlin

By DON PRICE

Oxford (Pp.)—Paul Engle, the young Iowa poet, returned to Oxford from Berlin with a three-foot liver sausage under his arm and a partially completed manuscript of the second volume of his proposed trilogy in his suitcase.

But he is slackening work on his poetry until the pressure of his university studies is eased.

The long Oxford vacations were made to order for Engle. He spent the six weeks' vacation last Easter hard at work on his poetry at Tormina, at the foot of Mount Etna in Sicily. The four months' vacation of the summer gave him a chance to travel in central Europe.

Avoids Puse As Poet

The six weeks at Christmas were spent in Berlin, to help the Nazis celebrate the Saar plebiscite and write more poetry.

Most of these experiences on the continent will help him in the completion of his coming volume of poetry, which, he explains, will "contrast the new spirit of America since 1929 with the ideals of Europe."

In spite of the fact that his "American Song", published in the United States last summer, has recently been published in England, and that he has been invited to make two international radio talks within six months, Engle's life at Oxford is not that of the academic poet.

Paul Engle, youthful poet and Iowa Rhodes scholar at Oxford, is busy on the second volume of his American trilogy.

Recalls Soda Jerking

Aesthetes stroll down the High Street in loud checked tweeds and discuss poetry at their clubs, but he is not among them. His favorite amusement is eating peanut butter from New York and reading fan mail, especially a number of letters berating his radio address to the United States.

He dreams occasionally, he confides, of malted milk as he eats those peanut butter sandwiches; he made thousands of both during the four years of soda jerking that paid his way through Coe College, from where he was graduated in 1931.

Wins Leisure For Writing

The soda jerking followed a long term at newspaper selling, and preceded a job as chauffeur, which saw him through his M.A. work at the University of Iowa the following year.

That degree was awarded for "creative writing," a volume of poetry entitled "Worn Earth," published in the Yale Younger Poets Series. A fellowship took him to Columbia the next year, and in 1933 he entered Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship, which guaranteed him three years of comparative leisure for writing.

After a year spent in sampling two schools at Oxford, Engle broke all precedent by insisting on studying in the newest Oxford school, Philosophy, Politics and Economics, which no member of his college had been allowed to enter before.

He was a member last summer of the baseball team of Americans at Oxford which claimed the championship of England after defeating the only rivals they could find.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There was surprise in Hollywood over the Academy nominees for best acting performances, not that anybody wants to take anything away from the successful six.

Absence of Bette Davis from the list was the most conspicuous on the actresses' side, while Robert Donat and George Arliss among the actors were generally thought to have better than even chances of landing.

In popularity of "It Happened One Night" and "One Night of Love" in Hollywood, which often disagrees in its film preferences with the rest of the country, was reason enough for inclusion of the Gable-Colbert team in the race along with Grace Moore, Norma Shearer was conceded a place on the list, and she got it.

Excuses Won't Work

Trying to explain away overlooking Bette Davis for her work in "Of Human Bondage" on the grounds that the picture aroused the ire of the reformers, as some would do, won't work. Frank Morgan was named for "The Affairs of Cellini," which was produced before the "clean pictures" campaign began, and was decidedly risqué, to say the least.

And Robert Donat didn't rate for "The Count of Monte Cristo," some say, because an Englishman, Charles Laughton, won the award last year, and Hollywood thought a Hollywoodian should get it this time. George Arliss? He had won before. But so had Norma Shearer.

It's Spring!

R. K. O.—"Spring in Paris" or "The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard." Universal—"April in Paris," a musical.

Paramount—"Paris in Spring"—formerly "Two on a Tower."

But nobody as yet has taken the title, "French Capital at the Vernal Equinox."

They may be Joan and Clark to you, but in Turkey they are Con Kravford and Klerk Geybl. Janet Beecher's "Sapphire Blue" hair is concealed under a blonde wig for her new role. . . . Robert Montgomery collects first editions of one author only—Max Beerbohm. . . . and Lionel Barrymore is collecting old magazines for artistic prints and copies of etchings. . . . Tullio Carminati, who couldn't get a job of acting in Hollywood some years ago, after being a leading man, is making a quick climb again.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Clive of India." Robert Clive, English military hero whose actual life was stranger than any product of an imaginative author's brain, lives his exciting years before the camera in this United Artists picture that cost its producers a million dollars to create. Vibrant with color, filled with grandeur and scenic effects of striking awe, it tells the story of Robert Clive, who at twenty-one years of age, was a $25 clerk with the East India Company. He joins the army and at twenty-six young Clive was the conqueror of Southern India, at thirty-four, Lord Robert Clive of Plassey was a military genius, the talk of England in whose name he conquered India. He was also one of the richest men in the world. That is the true story of Clive, the man who carved out an empire with the sword. But there is another story, which had been elaborately woven into the motion picture on the Broadway screen. Clive fell in love while still a struggling clerk, with a girl in England he had never seen.

He wrote her, asking her to become his wife. The girl had courage and perhaps a sense of humor. Anyway, she sailed for India to meet this young clerk who had expressed his love for her. While she was on her way, it took the boat a year to reach India in those days, Clive had become a conquering hero, and all India was in his hand. Margaret landed, learned the truth, and was certain Clive would now disdain her. On the contrary, he marries her, and together they struggle on to even greater fame. Directed by Richard Boleslawski, the cast stars Ronald Colman and features Loretta Young, Colin Clive, Caesar Romano, Mischa Auer, C. Aubrey Smith, Francis Lister and thousands of extra players. Clive died by his own hand in 1774. The film does not carry his life to its bitter ending. It stops thankfully, when Clive is at the height of his career, a power in the world.

Orpheum: "Wake Up and Dream" and "No Greater Glory." Russ Columbo, the handsome radio crooner who was accidentally killed by a gun some months ago, is the star of this, his last picture. It's a story of the show business of actors who find the going difficult and how one of them allows success to go to his head. June Knight is also in the cast. "No Greater Glory," released last May, this unusual movie is both clever and novel of treatment. Be-seized by a rival gang, the Paul Street Boys go through the military procedure of a regular army to protect their interests. It's grand entertainment, with George Breakston heading the cast.

Kingston: "Devil Dogs of the Air." Those two movie pals, James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, take the air for a change in their newest celluloid endeavor which tells all about the Marine flying service in glowing terms of patriotism and excitement. There isn't much of a story, just a constant flood of action caused by the seemingly endless difficulties Mr. Cagney manages to get himself into. And there is a romantic episode furnished by the pleasing presence of Margaret Lindsay and some excellent comedy offered by Frank McHugh. For those who enjoy thrills at a dozen a minute and the rough comedy of James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, this picture is something to place at the head of your don't miss list.

Tells Ways to Cut Food Cost

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 22.—With only fifty cents to spend for meat, and with beef shank at 12 cents a pound, beef heart at 15 cents a pound, and beef liver at 20 cents, the best buys are liver or heart because of their health value compared with beef shank, Lorna Barber, of the State College of Home Economics informed homemakers at Cornell's farm and home week.

Miss Barber urged homemakers to study the food needs of each member of the family and the health value of different foods. Even when food money is scarce, she said, a person should look to the future as well as the present in selecting food, and to give the body a square deal.

A display at farm and home week on how to cut food costs safely points out the following: The amount of milk the family uses can not be cut; no substitute exists for eggs; the less expensive cuts of meat may replace the more expensive ones; and meat substitutes, such as cheese and beans, may be used instead of meat; inexpensive fats and oils, such as vegetable oil and compounds may be used, but butter and lard, oil or cod liver oil should stay in the diet, whether they are high or low in cost; and inexpensive vegetables and fruits such as cabbage, carrots, onions, tomatoes, apples, prunes and small oranges supply the same food value as the more expensive ones, such as celery, brussels sprouts, grapefruit, grapes and large oranges. The exhibit also shows that cooked cereals in place of ready prepared cereals may be a saving, and that the more expensive baked goods should be left out of low cost diets.

PIGEON SLAUGHTER ADVISED TO SAVE ROUEN CATHEDRAL

Rouen, France, (AP)—The magnificent cathedral of Notre Dame here is in peril from the hundreds of pigeons which inhabit its facade. They already have done incalculable damage to the thousand and one statues in whose niches they have set up house.

The Commission of Antiquities of Normandy urges a sudden and effective massacre as the sole solution of the problem.

"Kindness to pigeons is well enough," argues the commission, "but pigeons can be replaced while the Gothic facade cannot."

Custodians of other structures bothered by the pigeon problem (St. Paul's, London; St. Sophia's, Istanbul; and the capitol in Albany, N. Y.) were unanimous in recommending a massacre.

Immigrants Enter Paraguay.

Asuncion, Paraguay, (AP)—Although Paraguay is living under war conditions, a trickle of immigrants continues to arrive in this inland country. Several hundred White Russians have taken up farm land recently, and a river boat brought 25 Spanish and Polish farmers recently. The Paraguayan government encourages the entry of farmers by exempting them from military service.

Industry Grows In Colombia.

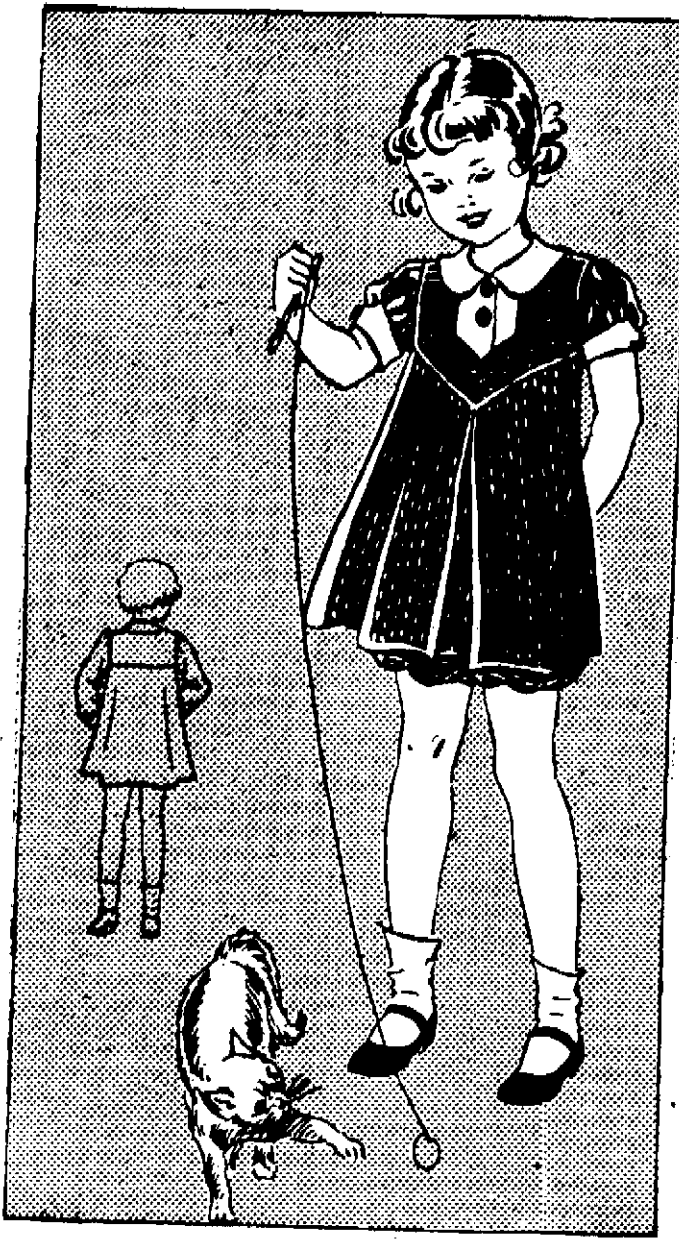

Bogota, Colombia, (AP)—Industry in Colombia have developed gradually in the last decade, and there are now 200,000 industrial workers in the country.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1599-B

Afternoon Dress With Butterfly Treatment

Necklines grow softer, and bows more gigantic than ever. In this afternoon frock we see an engaging butterfly flaunting its printed wings right across the center of the bodice. The effect is debonaire—and very much in tune with the afternoon mode.

The graceful arrangement of neckline folds shown here is particularly becoming to the woman with a short, full throat—the one who becomes overpowered by collars, and neckline furbelows, and who wants her trimming interests centered in front only.

To get this effect the waist of the dress is made with an orthodox cowl, slashed on the left side, and the printed bow drawn through, and locked in place. The construction—simple as it is—gives the dressmaker touch typical of the spring clothes.

The skirt is made with lines that harmonize. At the sides it extends above the waist to give the heightened waistline which the Regency influence is definitely reviving. Center-front seam introduces softness into the hemline.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1599-B is designed in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires about 4 yards of 35 inch material; 1/2 yard of 35 inch contrast.

Tomorrow: General utility and garden smock.

OLD ARMY ROUTES

WORLD BULWARK OF FRENCH SECURITY

Paris, (AP)—France is going to stand by the old army horse, in spite of widespread demands to rewrap the cavalry into an infantry on wheels.

Exclusive dependence on motor power for transportation of materials and men, the general staff believes, is dangerous.

France's oil supplies come from foreign and distant oilfields. In time of war, if communications were cut by blockade, a motorized army might be paralyzed.

"An automobile can be built almost at a moment's notice," said General Louis Maurin, minister of war, "but it takes five years to develop a horse."

Through himself a champion of motorization in the army, General Maurin supported a budgetary outlay for 1935 of $1,500,000 to support the cavalry, still valuable for rapid movement over rough country where automobiles and even tanks are helpless.

So French breeders feel assured there will be no horseless national defense program. Since 1922 purchase of army mounts has decreased more than 50 per cent.

MODES of the moment

The latest capes are versatile—they match or contrast.

Liana Marvin

With capes so much to the forefront in spring styles, a new idea is presented in the model sketched above—a cape-dress costume with a cape that may be worn either to contrast with or match the dress of polka dot crepe.

The dress itself is of one-piece styling in navy blue with white dots and has large, oval, red buttons down the front of the bodice. The V-neckline is finished with a tailored collar. Short cape sleeves, self-tie down in front, while the back band, two patch pockets and front kick pleats are other noteworthy details.

It wouldn't be contempt of court for that Hauptmann jury to go into vaudeville, but contempt of public opinion.

The accompanying cape of elbow-length uses navy blue wool crepe on one side and polka dot crepe to match the dress, on the other, while a red scarf, attached to the cape, gives a bright touch of color at the throat.

The new shallow-crowned hat, also sketched above, is of creole brown shantung straw combined with V-neckline in tri-toned green. The chic brim turns up at back and down in front, while the back band, two patch pockets and front kick pleats are other noteworthy details.

Little did the old-time pioneer realize, in his log cabin or sod house, that he was living in a "subsistence homestead."

Thrifty Wash—means a "good deal" for you

You know how you dread washday. You know how you hate being the "washwoman" for your family. It's no fun spending the day down in the steamy basement—lifting wet clothes, wringing heavy wet sheets and tablecloths. Better stop it. Phone us and tell us which day next week you want us to call for your bundle. Then plan to take that day and enjoy yourself.

We will wash your clothes in rich, foamy suds of purest soap. We'll rinse them clean and clear in gallons of sparkling, rain-soft water. We'll return them with the flat work ironed. And here's the best part. The marvelous new, home-washing service only costs 98 cents for a big 14 lb. bundle. Do you wonder that more and more women are using Thrifty Wash, every week.

Take your "day off" on washday—Talk to your friends. Make some plans for this week. Tell them you're sending your washing to the laundry—that you'll have a whole day for yourself, every week. Remember, you can take any day for your washday—your play day. Perhaps you have some questions you'd like to ask about Thrifty Wash. Then phone us—and we'll be glad to tell you anything you want to know about this marvelous new Home Washing Service.

Washington Message Read Before Congress

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—The senate and house turned the clock back 139 years today to listen to George Washington's farewell address as though this were 1796 and they were hearing the message for the first time.

In assembling on Washington's Birthday to hear again the famous address of the father of his country, congress followed one of its oldest traditions.

Senator Austin (R-Vt) was chosen to read the 8,000 word message before the senate. Speaker Byrnes waited until the last minute to choose a representative to read it.

The farewell address, directed to the people—"My friends and fellow citizens"—was made public on September 17, 1796.

As the senators and representatives listened to it President Roosevelt was celebrating the first president's 203rd birthday anniversary by remaining away from his office and refraining from business appointments.

The regular semi-weekly cabinet meeting of Friday was held yesterday to permit the President and the cabinet to take part in the holiday.

The celebrating of Washington's anniversary continues a custom originating 138 years ago at Valley Forge during his lifetime.

The Valley Forge occasion, the first public celebration, was on February 22, 1777, while Washington was in winter quarters with his army. The band of Proctor's Artillery serenaded the general to remind him of his birthday.

Washington's expense book disclosed an item of one pound, ten shillings of "hard money" for the serenaders.

One of Washington's happiest anniversaries was that of 1793—his last one—when Nellie Custis, his adopted daughter, was married at Mount Vernon.

At a unique ceremony at the old Washington homestead near Fredericksburg, Va., a new cherry tree was planted today to perpetuate the cherry-chopping legend.

Chaplain of Wallkill Prison Delivers Talk Before Kiwanis Club

Believing that of the four possible reasons for keeping a man in prison—punishment, deterrent, custody and reformation—the latter was the most justifiable, the Rev. Father James P. Scallion, chaplain of the new Medium Security Prison at Wallkill, stated that the institution with which he is connected does the better job when compared to other prisons in this state, before a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Thursday noon. His description of Wallkill Institution was that it was "a tapering off place, where prisoners come to adjust themselves to take their places in society as their sentences expire."

An invitation to meet with Rotary Club on March 20 when Col. Gerard McEntee, U. S. Army, retired, will speak on "Italy's Part in Winning the World War", was accepted by the club. Next Thursday the Rotarians will meet with Kiwanis to observe experiments with liquid air under the direction of the staff of Alfred University.

James H. Tremper, Jr., chairman of programs for February, was called upon by President Morris Samter to introduce the speaker.

Father Scallion began his address with a brief history of prisons, recalling that among the first two state's prisons in this country were those of the Walnut Street Jail in Philadelphia, later the Eastern Penitentiary, and the jail located in Greenwich Village, New York city. These institutions were established in the years following the Revolutionary War, prior to which time there was little need of a state's prison because of the scarcity of population and because so many crimes were punished by other methods than long confinement, the speaker explained.

The Eastern Penitentiary's system of "separate confinement" as compared to that of Auburn, where congregate lines were followed, proved unsatisfactory, the speaker stated, because it was found that keeping a man in seclusion over a long period developed mental troubles and often insanity, and made him unfit to take his place in society on his release.

Now the congregate system is generally followed everywhere. Father Scallion said that no major changes were made in the New York prison system until Thomas M. O'Brien began his work which was further developed by the establishing of the Wallkill Institution. This prison, the speaker explained, was a medium security type, the first of its kind in this state and in addition an experiment watched nationally and internationally. Contrary to the usual custom in building prisons Wallkill is not surrounded by a wall. Also the guards do not carry clubs, tear gas guns, or other similar weapons which are found in maximum security institutions of the Sing Sing and Auburn type.

It was the chaplain's contention that maximum security prisons failed to prepare a prisoner for a place in society. He believed that the making of auto licenses, garbage walls, etc., are not occupations which will be of use to the offender when he is released. Prisoners are forced to work on license plates, etc., because law will not allow prison made goods to compete with goods produced by organized labor, and the chaplain threw out the suggestion that some sort of compromise might be worked out whereby it would be possible for these prisoners to use their labor to produce all kinds of goods which might be sold in a manner not to compete with organized industry, and thus prepare the men for useful occupations.

At Wallkill many trades are followed in the machine shop, blacksmith shop, cabinet making shop, carpentry, electrical and plumbing departments, Farm Bureau and a number of others. It was the contention of the speaker that by teaching the men a trade or occupation that they could be rehabilitated and prepared to again take their places in society on release from the institution.

"It is well to remember that prison doors swing both ways, 99 per cent of the prisoners being released from prison," he continued, "and it is our purpose to make it possible for these men to be of use to themselves and the communities where he will live, when they are released." The social side of the men's character is also developed because an important point with released prisoners is what to do with leisure time.

Chaplain Scallion said that many prisoners who were serving sentences were brought to Wallkill for the last months of years of their incarceration "to taper them off", and take the "prison stupor" away. It was his contention that the so-called "bird shot" among convicts received less "special privileges" at Wallkill than at any other prison in the state. A regular routine is followed by everyone, he explained, which allows no special favors because one is an "important" prisoner.

Denying that Wallkill is "The Country Club of Utter County", the Rev. Father Scallion was of the opinion that such an impression might be obtained because of the modern plumbing, attractive walls and modern buildings, but he explained that the prison at Wallkill was constructed at less cost per prisoner than for instance the institution at Attica, a recently constructed maximum security prison where about a million dollars was spent for the wall alone. The meeting concluded with a question and answer period in which the speaker explained queries asked by the club members. The music for the day was in charge of Paul Zucca, assisted at the piano by Harry Bittner.

EDUCATION FORUM MET AT NEWBURGH TUESDAY

Highland, Feb. 22.—The annual Education Forum of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs met at the Palentine Hotel in Newburgh on Tuesday. The morning subject, Changing Trends in Education, was as follows: "In Public Schools," M. W. Longman, superintendent of Newburgh public schools; "In Rural Education," Mary Ellen Rich, "Rural Education Department," New Paltz Normal School; "In Adult Education," Mrs. Imogene M. Cowles, Columbia Teacher's College; In Teacher Training, Benjamin H. Mattison, director of training, New Paltz Normal School. Mr. Longman pointed out the changes in school books. The books of today are so much more attractive and understandable than the books used when he was a boy. Education is made more attractive, therefore most children like to go to school. Mr. Longman said the selection of teachers was very important and that he liked Nicholas Murray Butler's suggestion to those selecting teachers: "Has he or she developed personal character? Can he or she develop character in others? How does he or she get along with other people? What are the results he or she has obtained in exams? Intelligence? Some other points made by Mr. Longman were that teachers should lead pupils to give and take. Teach people to live together and be happy. Sing when things go wrong, and closed his talk by saying, "Most every going business has a good woman in back of it."

Miss Rich reported that there are still 150,000 one room schools in this country, 7,000 in New York state. The majority of these have poorly prepared, poorly paid teachers in poorly equipped and poorly built buildings. There are 18,000,000 people out of work, the majority of these are people who did not have the opportunity to secure higher education. She then presented the other side of the picture in describing a beautiful school of a consolidated district which housed 500 pupils who came on 17 district owned buses. This school has attractive adequate classrooms, workshops, model rooms for domestic science, gymnasium, up-to-date library and other things which make education attractive and complete. She also described how an old unattractive rural school with black walls, carved desks, worn out floor, poor lighting conditions was made into an attractive schoolroom where children learn in groups seated around tables and instead of eating poor lunches they prepare and serve hot lunches on the equipment given to them. These pupils, many of whom have never been beyond a nearby village, now go to Albany and other places as part of their education.

Mr. Mattison spoke on teaching teachers to teach. The profession may have had a shady past but the future is bright. At the Normal School the student spends the first year in learning and observing children. The second year learning is continued and he practices teaching in the training school. In the third year he goes out to nearby city schools and observes for some time and continues learning. The fourth year is a new experiment at Normal schools. He also stated that the prospective teacher must have a regent's average of 72 per cent and this may be increased soon. He must pass an entrance exam which includes an intelligence test. He must also pass the personal interview test. In order to be a good teacher there must be a desire in the soul of the student to teach, a desire to mingle. The profession needs effective personality. The emphasis is on the social side as well as on scholastic. The Normal diploma will no longer be a life license to teach and the completion of the 3-year course only gives a temporary diploma. The 4-year course is necessary to get the final diploma and even then requirements may be increased.

Mrs. Cowles brought out many facts of interest to all adults. Some of which are that Federal aid is now given adult education. Adult education has become a fact, no more a fancy. Public forums are being conducted in many places. In some of these one side of a question is discussed by a prominent speaker one night the other side the next night. Adults are learning to be open minded, therefore more broadminded. The school is an excellent place for forums, adult education, and other community activities. Adult classes of today furnish a place for men and women to go to do and learn the things which he or she has always wanted to do but could not because of lack of opportunity. At these centers adults are enjoying learning and thinking it a lark.

The afternoon subjects were Education and the State Federation, Mrs. Almeron W. Smith, president of N. Y. S. Federation of Women's Clubs; Education and the General (National) Federation, Mrs. Fred L. Pidgeon, chairman of education department, General Federation of Women's Clubs. The latter speaker came from Boston described her department. She stressed the importance of carrying one's cargo and making the port. Science and invention are influences of basic importance in the economic world. No society is safe, if it develops machinery faster than its humanity. Humanity may be crushed by the machinery in the U. S. There are three groups of people in the U. S. One doesn't know what is happening at all; the second watches things happen; the third makes things happen. Mrs. Pidgeon said that women do not center their educational responsibilities. They should elect right men and at least one woman on every school board. Schools are laboring under the difficulty of increased responsibility and decreased resources. Educators should diagnose the child before giving the child an educational program, just as a doctor would make a physical diagnosis before prescribing medical or operative measures. We must consider the youth of today. There should be an extended use of public schools. Activities held there to meet the needs and pleasures of the real owners of those buildings—the people. She said that she had been asked by the federal administrator of education to tell club women to see that one school house in every community is open to community interests. She called upon women to know their schools. Schools for youth and adults should develop vocations as well as vocations, so that in trying times like these when vocations are resourceless vocations might prove resourceful. Physical education in public schools should take as its slogan, "A game for every child and a child for every game," not just emphasis on the few. Hold fast to the goal in education but develop the new in order to make progress.

Woman's Federation Executives Meet

Many matters of interest came up for discussion and action at the February meeting of the Executive Committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, held at the City Library on Thursday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Fred P. Luther, Mrs. Fred Snyder, first vice president, presided.

Before the business of the committee was taken up, the Rev. Philip Goertz of Port Ewen spoke to the women regarding a movement to be considered by the Ministerial Association at its next meeting relative to the motion picture reform in this community. Briefly describing the definite stand taken by the Roman Catholic Church in its Legion of Decency, the members of the Ministerial Association and other uplift organizations will be asked to cooperate in the control of moving pictures to be shown in this vicinity, looking toward a distinct moral betterment of the same. The four types of pictures—Generally approved, "For adult audience," "Unjudged," and "Taboo," will all come in for consideration so that we may be free from the immoral, the indecent, the criminal and the salacious movies. This proposed program will be presented at the Ministerial Association meeting and Mr. Goertz asked that the Federation of Women's Clubs appoint a committee of three to represent the organization at its meeting and cooperate with it. It was later decided by the executive committee to await the return of Mrs. Luther, who still heads the motion picture activity of the Federation in order that she might suggest what action would be wisest to take.

Inasmuch as the motion picture topic had come up as it did, further consideration of the subject was had, directly following the secretary's and treasurer's reports, and the corresponding secretary of the Federation was instructed to send a letter to the management of the Reading Theatres of this city, expressing the Federation's high appreciation and gratification over the bringing to our city of such exceedingly fine motion pictures as "County Chairman," "Little Minister," and now, the already famous motion picture classic, "David Copperfield."

In connection with the immediate Federation business, the committee voted to contribute $10 to the campaign fund for the election of Mrs. Comly of New York state as the second vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Good Government Committee reported on the recent meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, when Mayor Heiselein addressed a good sized meeting of men and women on the subject of "Changing of Our City Charter and the Mayor-manager Form of City Manager Government." As those present at that meeting had been asked to act as missionaries in talking about these city government matters to their friends so the members of the executive committee were asked to do the same kind of thing for the wider dissemination of the matter.

Attention was also called seriously to the grave condition which our country is in, with even a hint, much more positive action of the repudiating of our government debts and the dishonor and disgrace of such action on the part of the American people. Its portent was further shown to be most alarming. On recommendation of the chairman of this committee the corresponding secretary was instructed to write two letters thanking the mayor for his informative and interesting address, and thanking Mr. Gross of the Governor Clinton Hotel for his generous hospitality in allowing the meeting to be held at the hotel.

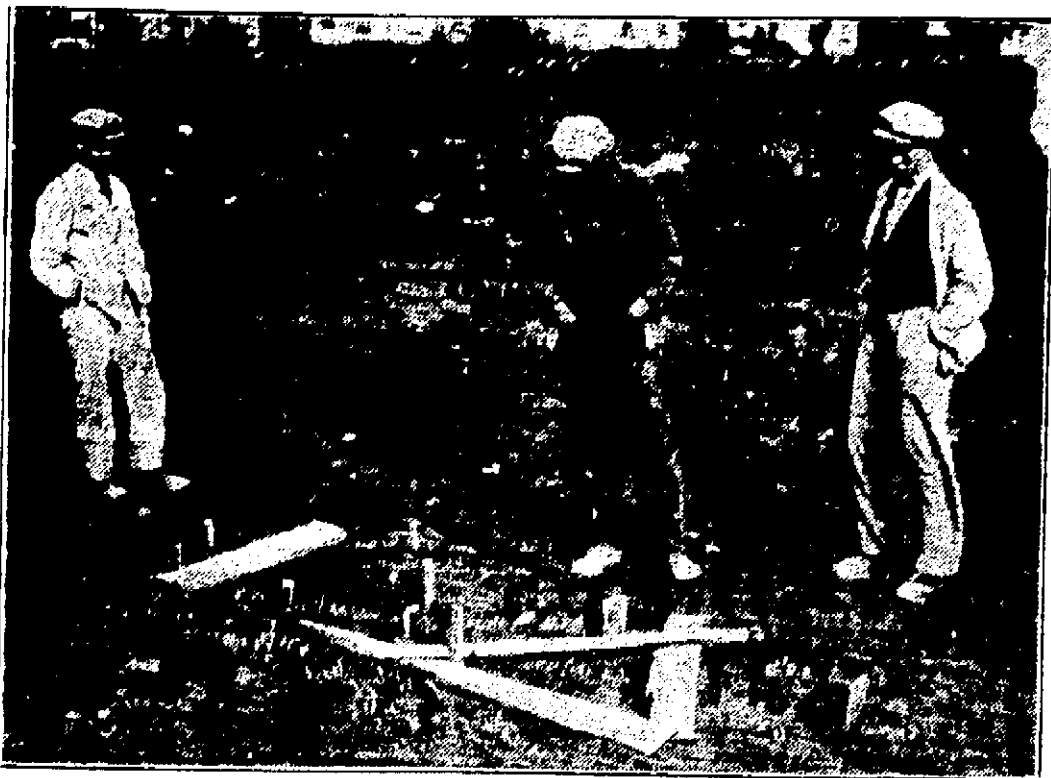

Sorosis announced that that club would entertain the federation at the next open meeting on March 16, at the Fair Street Reformed Church, when the program will be in the nature of a musicale which will be in charge of Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Millonig. It was also announced that the next executive committee meeting would be held at the Y. W. C. A. on the afternoon of March 21, and at 2 o'clock sharp in order to be out of the way of the lecture by Mrs. Laura W. McMullen to be held at the Y. W. auditorium at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Graham, chairman of the music committee, spoke of the visit to our city recently of Mrs. Elia Morris, president of the New York State Music Association. She attended the meeting of the Kingston Musical Association and a dinner was given in her honor. Mrs. Graham also called attention to the concert by the Catskill Glee Club on Monday evening, next and of the Choristers' Club presentation of the oratorio of Elijah, and later of the oratorio of the Messiah being given by the High School Glee Clubs and orchestra. Finally the coming Hudson Valley's Associated Glee Clubs' concert in late May or June was spoken of. All were highly recommended.

Among other business activities, one new member, Miss I. H. Bartlett, was received into the Federation and it was voted to contribute $25 to The Home for the Aged.

This brought the meeting to a close, as several committee chairmen were unable to be present and report.

TWO GIRLS DIE IN PLUNGE FROM PLANE

Blue Sunday Laws Once Strict Rule in England

Sunday holiday makers and trippers will be interested to know that a statutory law in England, years ago prohibited such frivolity. The Act of Uniformity, 1552, requires: All persons, except those dissenting from the worship or doctrines of the Church of England and usually attending some place of worship not belonging to the church of England, are, if they have no lawful or reasonable excuse for absence, to endeavor to attend their parish church or accustomed chapel, or, if reasonably prevented from so doing, some other place where the divine service of the Church of England is performed, on all Sundays and other days ordained and used to be kept as holy days, and to abide there orderly and soberly during the time of common prayer, preaching, or other divine service there performed. Failure to observe this law renders the offending "parishioner or inhabitant of a parish" who is not legally exempt from attendance at divine service on Sundays and holy days "liable to proceedings taken against him in the ecclesiastical courts to be censured for the offense, admonished as to his attendance in the future, and to be condemned in the costs of the proceedings."—Montreal Herald.

Auto Dealers Report Advance Sales of New Models at Show Here

Large Attendance at Opening of Automobile Show Here on Thursday
—Cars Attractively Spaced on Floor of Local Auditorium.
The new 1935 models of motor cars shown at the Kingston Automobile Show which opened in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Thursday and continues for the rest of the week impressed visitors at the show with their massive appearance and rugged qualities combined with the many new refinements in upholstery and interior decorations. Thursday was opening day at the show and there was a large attendance of interested people. Several of the dealers reported advance sales of the new models displayed at the show.

The cars have been attractively spaced on the floor of the huge auditorium, and visitors at the show saw cars in all the price classes from the big Pierce-Arrow which sells at $4,200 to cars ranging in price from $550 and $800 up.

Even the cars in the low price field presented a massive appearance due to the heavy skinned fenders shown on all of the cars.

Many of the visitors at the show Thursday were interested in this year's feature on the Hudson and Terraplane known as the electric hand which consists of a short metal arm attached to the steering post, just below the wheel, on top of which is a shift trigger. A touch of the shift trigger, which is done by the finger without taking the hands from the wheel, shifts gears—low, to second or high, which eliminates the use of the gear shift lever.

One of the finest appearing models at the show this year is the gay colored Hupmobile displayed by Southard-Belcher. It is one of the snappiest appearing cars in the show.

Another snappy car that attracted many was the Auburn roadster displayed by Every Sales & Service with its gay, red upholstered seat and streamlined body.

The cutaway chassis of the Chevrolet was of great interest as it showed the inner working of the car and how the wheels go around. The Colonial City Chevrolet, Inc., is also showing a Master De Luxe sport sedan and a Master De Luxe coupe. These are the same two cars that were shown at the auto show in New York and were loaned for exhibition at the show here.

Millard & Son displayed four models of the 1935 Ford, including a roadster that proved a snappy looking job. There is a great difference between the Ford car of today and the Ford car of several years ago as the body appearance of the car has been entirely changed.

Another fine car at the show was the Graham displayed by the Broadway Garage. This car has exceptionally fine lines.

The Dodge cars of 1935 displayed by the Every Sales & Service also attracted considerable favorable attention from visitors. The new Plymouths are also fine appearing cars.

The new 1935 Buicks and Pontiacs displayed by the Kingston Buick Company are among the fine models on display at the show. This year's models show many improvements.

Another fine car shown is the 1935 Studebaker shown by August O. Steuding. The Commander and Dictator models are displayed.

There is also a fine display of the Nash, LaFayette and Willys cars by the George J. Schryver Motor Car Company.

One of the finest cars shown at the show is the 1935 Packard displayed by the Stuyvesant Garage who also have the new Oldsmobile on display.

The Van Kleeck Motor & Garage is showing the new 1935 Plymouth and DeSoto. The DeSoto model is the only air flow model on exhibition.

Unless a visitor at the show had his or her mind made up before they entered the show it was a problem to decide just what make of car they would like to purchase. Every model shown by the dealers had so many interesting features that only the matter of how much money a would-be purchaser had to expend would help make a decision.

The many gay colors of the cars on display made a colorful sight as the visitor entered the huge auditorium, and all evening interested crowds gathered around the various models displayed and listened intently while salesmen explained the various fine features of the cars.

Not only were pleasure cars shown but business men were interested in the display of trucks shown from the Willys light delivery truck to the International trucks shown by Dr. Morton Low and the light delivery truck displayed by Millard.

The Kingston Oil Company had an interesting exhibit of Esso Gasoline and during the evening showed a movie talkie explaining why Esso was such a good gasoline.

The Vandervort Battery Company also had a fine display that interested visitors as did the Kingston Bus & Service Station.

Millard & Son in addition to the display of cars and trucks also showed various accessories.

Music at the show is being furnished by the Erno and Steuding orchestra.

The show will remain open each evening until 10:30 o'clock and in addition will be open Saturdays morning at 10 o'clock and continue all day.

In connection with the Auto Show, a new Hudson coach, painted white, may be seen on the street of Kingston advertising the show through a radio loud speaker. The car will cruise through the streets for the duration of the Auto Show here.

Attorney Injured.
Attorney Philip Stutzky of Ellenville got a bad shaking up and possible fracture of the ribs Tuesday when his Buick sedan skidded on the icy roadway as he was on his way home to lunch. The car struck a pole and Mr. Stutzky was thrown violently from his seat. He is able to be shifted, but is very sore and lame.

No Action Taken on Junior High School of the second term for the years 1932 to 1935 (4 years).

	1932	1933	1934	1935
School 1	100	95	87	98
School 2	300	321	344	343
School 3	291	297	267	261
School 4	420	399	450	420
School 5	486	523	525	521
School 6	557	542	559	568
School 7	487	514	503	528
School 8	437	457	452	480

These four years show an increase in the grammar schools of 141 and 285 in the high school. In the high school there has been an increase of 746 since February, 1929.

The high school presents an urgent problem which becomes more acute each year. All available class rooms are in use during the entire day including the lunch rooms for study hall and recitation purposes. At present the library, the primary function of which is for reference use connected with assignments and research in history, English, etc., is being used in part for study hall purposes.

Some of the grammar schools also present a problem for the not distant future. Schools Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 have practically reached a capacity registration, several rooms having over forty pupils.

The number in each of the several grades does not indicate that there will be a decrease in the upper grades in coming years as the pupils advance from grade to grade.

The following gives the number in the eight grades for the first term:

Grade 8	315
Grade 7	354
Grade 6	421
Grade 5	420
Grade 4	389
Grade 3	425
Grade 2	418
Grade 1	453

The above figures together with unemployment of young people, indicate the probability of no decrease in the upper grades and the high school in the near future.

Bills are before the legislature raising age at which children may leave school to enter industry, from 14 to 16 years.

Respectfully submitted,
B. C. VAN INCEN,
Superintendent of Schools
Kingston, N. Y.,

Coolidge Was a Man Bewildered by Life

Kansas City, Feb. 22 (AP).—Calvin Coolidge, in the opinion of his latest biographer, died a bewildered man—puzzled and disoriented by the trend of American life and thinking during the last days of his life.

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, head master of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., presented this view of the Republican president on a visit here today.

The educator, who is the author of four other biographies, is preparing the work on Coolidge with the aid of Mrs. Coolidge.

"Coolidge once remarked to a friend, 'I do not fit with these times.'" Dr. Fuess said. "From my study of his life I see how he couldn't understand the excessive spending, the wild speculation and the move toward bureaucracy and state socialism. His whole philosophy was that of thrift and individualism."

Dr. Fuess declared Coolidge was in earnest in making his famous "I do not choose to run" announcement.

"Contrary to some published reports that he very much wanted to be a candidate for the presidency in 1928, I know, both from talking with him and with his family and friends, that he did not desire to enter the campaign. He knew he was ill."

Dr. Fuess related an anecdote which he said was fully authenticated.

A portrait artist decided to try to draw out Coolidge in an attempt to catch a spark of expression he could transfer to the canvas.

"Mr. Coolidge," he asked, "what was the first thing you thought of when you were informed President Harding had died and you were to become president?"

Trly, Coolidge half smiled and said:

"Well, I thought I could swing it."

Tough on Stenogs.
New York, Feb. 22 (AP).—Strolling across Brooklyn bridge in chilling February wind was put forward today by Dr. William H. Allen, secretary of the New York city civil service commission, as a proper substitute for the Hupstuck and route of his stenographers. He denied he had "banned" stenographers for the 50 style in his office but admitted in two instances he had refused to give dictation to two typists whose makeups he did not like. "If you are very pale take a walk across Brooklyn bridge in a good stiff wind," he remarked. "Think on the inside is infinitely better than pink on the outside."

Famous Dancers To Appear At Ball

J. David Schenck, chairman of the entertainment committee of the 15th annual charity ball sponsored by Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, to be held in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Friday evening, March 1, announced today that the program will include the famous dancing team of Grant & Rosillo who have been featured all over the country since their engagement at the late Century of Progress Exposition held at Chicago.

Miss Fifi Rosillo is a charming dancing star of "Le Opera Comique, Paris" and Donald Grant was a feature comedian of the famous Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago. They have combined their talents into the making of one of the greatest teams on the stage today, and those who are planning to attend the annual K. of C. ball will find a wonderful treat in store for themselves. Additional headline acts will also be included on the program which will also consist of an excellent concert and general assembly dancing.

John J. McGuire, general chairman of the ball, has promised to continue the excellent arrangements of last year of placing the entire program promptly according to schedule. The doors of the spacious auditorium will open at 7 o'clock. A concert, interspersed with specialty numbers, will be given for one hour, beginning at 8 o'clock; the entertainment will be presented from 9 to 10 o'clock, and at the latter hour dancing will begin to the tunes of Jack Ernie's Imperials and Bob Steuding's Radiocasters.

The many patrons of the ball are urged to remit promptly so that the financial success of the ball and the fund be increased thereby. In order to continue this noble and necessary work of taking care of the needy and the unfortunate for whom the entire proceeds of the ball are appropriated.

Racing Stallion Dead.

Director I. former world champion racing stallion, died recently at the farm of John Shinniston, West Virginia, at the age of 23. Director I paced a mile against time at Syracuse in 1:51.56. He also had a record of 1:58 made in a race at Columbus, Ohio, in the fall of 1914. He was at one time owned by Silas S. Shurtler of Ellenville and was seen in an exhibition race at the Ellenville Driving Park track in 1919.

Deer Through Window

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—Harried by dogs, a full-grown doe leaped through an open window into a cellar in the heart of this city's residential section, yesterday. The animal submitted quietly to removal from its basement retreat by S. P. A. men who were called. Ty Hazard, a restaurant employee, had the buttons ripped off his overcoat in an encounter with the deer.

Funny Smiles

Chicago, Feb. 22 (AP).—Postmaster General Farley, in Chicago on route to Lincoln, Ill., for a talk tonight, pretended to be amused by Senator Huey P. Long's attack on him on the Senate floor yesterday. "I smiled when I read it," the postmaster general said, Farley declined to amplify his comments on Long.

Fried Apples

For tasty addition to your menu, try this recipe:

Do not peel, but quarter and core. Put them in frying pan with plenty of butter and sprinkle with either brown or white sugar according to your taste. Let them cook very slowly, turning from time to time until the fruit is clear. Pour remaining syrup over fruit.

Relatives and friends are invited. Interment will be in St. Peter's cemetery under the direction of Frank J. McCordie.

The funeral of Miss Grace V. Merritt, former matron of the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star of the State of New York, was held Thursday afternoon from the W. N. Conner funeral home on Fair street, and was largely attended. The Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, of the Fair Street Reformed Church, officiated, and the floral offerings were many and beautiful. During the services Robert Hawley sang in the City Four Square. There is no Night There. The bearers were: William Newkirk, Charles Newkirk, Minard Meyers, Albert Meyers and Frank Phelps, all cousins of Miss Merritt. Wednesday evening ritualistic services were held by Clinton Chapter, No. 445, and Judea Shrine. Interment was in Wiltwyck Cemetery. The Grand Chapter of the State of New York was represented by Most Worthy May B. Johnson, grand matron; Right Worthy Alice M. Scardfield, associate grand matron; Most Worthy Annie M. Pond, grand secretary; Most Worthy Nettie V. Higgins, past grand matron; Right Worthy Mae E. Adams, grand conductress; Right Worthy Ann Hamilton, commissioner of appeals; Right Worthy Ethel B. The following chapters were represented: Kingston, No. 155, of Kingston; Catskill, No. 232, of Catskill; Cairo, No. 380, of Cairo; Valley, No. 38, of Oak Hill; Maranatha, No. 764, of Greenville; Wawarsing, No. 253, of Ellenville; Emanuel, No. 517, of Saugerties; Highland, No. 535, of Highland; Hudson River, No. 262, of Newburgh; Vassar, No. 547, of Poughkeepsie; Alpha, No. 1, of Laurel, No. 44, and Syracuse, No. 693, of New York city; Radiant, No. 35, of Brooklyn; Richmond Hill, No. 498, of Richmond Hill; Richmond, No. 727, of Staten Island; Albany, No. 12, of Albany. There was also a delegation from the Merritt club of Manhattan.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Louise Horton, nee Viets, formerly of Port Ewen, was held in Waterbury, Conn. Saturday, February 9, at the Alderson Funeral Home, 70 Central avenue, where the Rev. David P. Gaines of the First Baptist Church officiated. Interment was in Riverside cemetery. Mrs. Horton had been ill for a long time prior to her death on February 7. Mrs. Horton was born in Hancock, Mass., and was the daughter of the Rev. Apollon P. and Henrietta L. (Webster) Viets. She was a descendant of the Viets family of Granby, and through her mother, of John Webster, the fifth governor of Connecticut, who came from Warwickshire, Eng., to Boston in the 17th century, and was one of those who came with the Rev. Thomas Hooker to Hartford, in 1635. The Rev. Apollon P. Viets and his family lived in different places, where he was pastor of Baptist churches, before coming to Waterbury nearly a half-century ago, and making their home in the house owned by the Webster family on Franklin street. Mrs. Horton attended the Waterbury schools and was a woman of fine mental ability, widely read, and with a talent for writing, her work appearing in the local newspapers of a few years ago. She was much interested in natural history, and was for some years a member of the Waterbury Naturalist Club. Mr. and Mrs. Horton were among the first persons to build a home in the present Cottage Park section, where they lived for several years before returning to the home on Franklin street. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and she is survived by her husband; one sister, Miss Ella C. Viets, and a number of nephews, of whom one is Dr. William Jayn Phelps of New Haven.

A pinochle party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Chrysler of Rochester Center Wednesday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hendrickson of Kerhonkson; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osterhout, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chrysler and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelder and son, Charles, Mrs. Birdella Dewey and Theron Dewey of Mettacauchons, Miss Hasbrouck, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chrysler and Robert Allen of Rochester Center, and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Beehler-Bruere

Miss Marguerite Bruere of St. Charles, Mo., became the bride of Vernon Dezell Beehler of Kingston, N. Y., at four o'clock candlelight service Saturday afternoon, February 16, at the Trinity Episcopal Church in St. Charles, Mo. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. William Scarlett, bishop of St. Charles, Mo. Miss Bruere is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Bruere, former judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals. Mr. Beehler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Beehler of Kingston. The bride wore her grandmother's wedding gown of satin, united a deep ivory by the years and trimmed with old lace and veil to match. Her old fashioned bouquet was of white rose buds and lilies of the valley. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Bernard Thompson, of Kansas City, who wore a peach satin dress and picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Mr. Beehler's best man was Floyd Knapp of St. Louis, a former classmate. Mr. Beehler, a lawyer in Chicago, is a graduate and Civil Engineer of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy and was a member of the Theta Chi Fraternity. Miss Bruere was a graduate of Lindenwood College and attended Oberlin College, Ohio, and the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. Theodore Bruere, Jr., brother of the bride, and Clinton Dedrick, formerly of Kingston, now of St. Louis, were the ushers. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Bruere home, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. They will reside at Evanston, Ill., where a new furnished home awaits them. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. John C. Beehler and Mrs. William Dr. Brimmer Sr., of Kingston, mother and aunt of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. James Bruere of Toledo, Ohio, brother and sister-in-law of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tweedle of Jefferson City, Dr. and Mrs. Enlist P. North of St. Louis; Mrs. Wagon and daughter of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Osborn of Chicago and Miss E. L. Guster of Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. James Wells of Evanston, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dedrick of St. Louis.

Pertinent Evidence Lacking in Tax Suit

Pittsburgh, Feb. 22 (AP).—Smiling and debonaire Frank J. Hogan, nationally known Washington attorney and chief counsel for Andrew W. Mellon, insisted today not "one centimeter" of "pertinent evidence" has been disclosed in the government's $3,089,000 income tax fraud case against his client that he hadn't admitted to be true himself in his opening summation.

Equally elated at results of the first week's hearing before the tax appeals board is the government's attorney, the athletic looking counsel, from Jamestown, N. Y., Robert H. Jackson. Hearings were recessed over Washington's Birthday and the week-end.

"We maintained this entire case was one of political persecution and we showed that to be true by the deputy internal commissioner of internal revenue, Charles T. Russell, asserted Hogan.

"Nearly all of this other evidence is for publicity purposes and will be shown to have no real bearing on the case."

Big Vaudeville Show Here on Thursday

One of the best professional all-vaudiville shows to be staged in Kingston in years will be that presented from the stage of the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Thursday evening under the auspices of the local emergency relief bureau. Admission is free and the show is open to the general public. Those taking part in the show are men and women who have appeared in some of the finest theatres in the country. There will be eight top-notch acts and a master of ceremony. The drama department of the State TERA has written the local ERB that all of the acts in the show are first class. The state TERA some time ago approved a project to give employment to talented actors who were without a job, and some of these professionals are traveling around the state putting on high class shows.

Pignus a Hoax

Vadnagar, Baroda, India, Feb. 22 (AP).—Local authorities today branded as a hoax a widely published report that fossil remains of a pigmy race had been found here about a week ago. They had been swamped by cable inquiries from all parts of the world. In explanation, the authorities said the rumor was started either by a practical joker or as the result of an old Hindu superstition that spreading a false rumor sometimes aids toward solving domestic problems.

Drastic Weather Changes

Malone, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—The temperature changed 38 degrees in eight hours last night, dropping from 22 degrees above zero at 10 p. m. to 16 below at 6 a. m. Owls Head reported a reading of 24 below zero.

Crew Rescued

THE FREEMAN

And They All Like It!

Old folks, young folks, city folks, country folks, rich men, poor men, they all go to make up the great audience who daily read the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Some of them are buying a new car; some are planning on making the down payment on that little home, now that things are looking up, and still others are figuring on some new furniture, clothing, home repairs, etc.

Varied tastes, varied needs, varied incomes — yet they all have one thing in common — their favorite newspaper is The Freeman.

From Marlborough to Saugerties, from Ellenville to Kingston, from Pine Hill to Kingston, and, of course, Kingston City — people depend on The Freeman for news of the world, the nation and their own community. They depend too, on The Freeman advertising to answer their 3 big shopping problems — WHAT? WHERE? HOW MUCH?

MR. MERCHANT: Kingston Freeman advertising is the most powerful sales help you can employ. This one medium, at one low cost, will carry your sales message into nearly every home in Kingston and a large percentage of homes in the Kingston trading zone. Our rates are exceedingly low for such coverage.

Every day over 9,500 Freemans are delivered to homes in Kingston and Ulster County — And figuring only 3 readers to a family your message will reach nearly 30,000 pairs of eyes.

Phone 832 or 2200. One of our trained advertising men will help you put your story before these more than 9,500 families who read

"EDUCATED" HORSE TEACHES HORSEPOWER HORSE SENSE

Detroit police are conducting a vigorous... and successful... safety education campaign with their "educated" horse, new "High-Speed Safety" Plymouth broadcasting car and the cooperation of school safety patrols. They reduced traffic fatalities 38.6 percent in the Motor City in the last six months of 1934, compared with the first six months. "Blackie", the horse, learned traffic laws while hauling a milk wagon for 12 years. Two of the city's schoolboy patrols are shown studying "Blackie's" safety lesson—"Horse Power Without Horse Sense Is Dangerous."

HUDSON AND TERRAPLANE TRUNK DESIGN

An entirely new type of trunk is being offered this year for Hudsons and Terraplanes. The lines of the trunk not only blend with those of the body but the trunk itself opens directly into the generous tire and luggage space at the rear, giving a tremendous amount of room while actually enhancing the appearance of the car.

Just to illustrate the capacity of the new trunk designed for Hudson and Terraplane cars, here is one with the cover open showing four full-grown standard size milk cans in place and there is plenty of room behind them for the spare tire.

Capitol Coach Line Hearing

New York, Feb. 21 (Special).—A hearing was called this morning by Deputy Commissioner John F. O'Brien before the Public Service Commission on the application of Eva Bartell, trading as the Capitol Coach Lines, to operate a motor bus line between Ellenville and Wurtsboro. In attendance were M. Shepard Benjamin, Brooklyn attorney, who appeared for the petitioner in place of Albert Martin Cohen, H. William Hirsch, 195 Liberty avenue, general manager of the bus line, and William M. Tiel, 370 Lexington avenue, New York, general passenger agent of the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad Co., appearing to oppose the franchise.

An application to adjourn the hearing because of the illness of Cohen was at first refused by the commissioner because he had come from Albany to conduct it. He agreed, finally, when Benjamin insisted he did not know enough about the case to proceed. The next meeting will be held either in Newburgh or Middletown in order to hear witnesses from Ulster and Orange counties to testify on the "convenience and necessity" of the proposed route.

Lift Strike Postponed.
New York, Feb. 22 (AP).—The strike of building service employees in the Bronx, tentatively set for this forenoon, was postponed early today until March 4 to permit further negotiations. Efforts to negotiate the dispute in the garment and fur centers of Manhattan collapsed last night, however. "The negotiations have been deliberately sabotaged," said James J. Bambrick, president of the union, after walking out of a conference with building operators.

BLACK STORK

the Coal you can fire and forget

Save Money on Coal and Get Better Heat

Improved coal, Black Stork, not only saves you $10 to $25 a year, it gives you more dependable heat with less furnace care.

HUNDREDS of people have learned that coal economy can be secured by using Black Stork, an improved coal that goes farther. You actually save dollars on the first ton. Besides, Black Stork Coal burns so steadily and so completely that there is little ash to remove. Your furnace worries are wiped out. Black Stork burns for hours without attention; banks perfectly; comes up quickly mornings.

If you need coal, phone us.

CROSLEY SHELVADOR

BEFORE YOU BUY AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR, ASK YOURSELF THIS QUESTION:

Do I Want To Get Along WITHOUT The Shelvador?

Model F 43 $139.50

If you feel that the Shelvador—with its 30% greater "usable" space, with its much greater "durability," with its proved quality, silent operation, long life, its many outstanding features—if you feel that these are, after all, the things that make electric refrigeration contribute most to happiness and time-saving, then you will select the Shelvador. For no other refrigerator in the world possesses these features.

SEE TUDOROFF BROS. TODAY. Look through every part of the Crosley Shelvador. Compare—the convenience, the price, the roominess, the dollar's worth—and there's just one answer.... SHELVADOR!
